

RUSSIANS TAKE 33,000 PRISONERS AND 48 GUNS

GERMAN OPERATIONS FAIL NEAR LEMBERG, RUSSIANS DECLARE

Lemberg, Galicia, Nov. 28. (Via Petrograd and London, 2:20 p. m.)—In operations lasting three days in the vicinity of Strykow, 15 miles northeast of Lódz, and Tushin an equal distance to the south of this city, the Germans lost upwards of 17,000 men, a heavy battery of artillery and 28 machine guns, according to authoritative information obtainable in Lemberg today.

In the same fight the Austrians lost 16,000 men, in addition to 20 machine guns.

The German operations in this locality are declared by Russian military observers in Lemberg to have been an absolute failure and the chances of their escaping further disaster is regarded here as slight.

Irish Nationalists Approached

London, Nov. 28. (12:30 Noon)—While newspapers reports from Petrograd continue to claim a victory in northern Poland, comparable at least to Sedan and even worthy to rank with the disaster which Russia inflicted upon Napoleon, official communications shed but little light on the situation in Poland.

An official dispatch from Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief of the Russian forces in the field, while of considerable length concerns itself largely with more or less isolated operations and does not claim the infliction of an overwhelming defeat upon the invaders.

The Grand Duke sums up the situation on the entire front between the Vistula and the Warta rivers the battle is progressing in favor of Russian arms. Both Berlin and Vienna still claim that no decisive result has followed the recent operations in Russian Poland.

On the western battle front the full still prevails, the only hint of activity being found in the report from Holland that the British fleet again is operating against the German positions on the Belgian coast.

The visit of Sir Roger Casement who became famous as the investigator of the Putnam Rubber atrocities to the Berlin foreign office is being prominently featured by the London papers. The comment, however, is rather reserved. On the whole the press seems frankly puzzled by the episode which indicates that direct negotiations between Germany and the extreme section of the Irish nationalists have been going on.

The British public have been greatly reassured by the statement of Winston Spencer Churchill, first Lord of the Admiralty concerning the naval position of the empire. This has been supplemented by the official French report that the combined fleet not only have command of the Mediterranean but are maintaining a successful blockade of the Adriatic and the Dardanelles.

From Petrograd comes a much delayed account of a surprise attack by a Russian fleet, which, it is claimed, resulted in serious disaster to the German Baltic squadron in September.

Britishers May Tax Workingmen's Wage To Raise War Funds

London, Nov. 28.—England is accepting its new burden of taxation with a stoicism which could only be a result of war conditions. In normal times the announcement of David Lloyd George's latest budget would have caused a storm that would have overthrown the strongest government and probably ten years of cautious advance would not have prepared the people for such radical increase in the burden of taxation.

Even the half-penny tax on a glass of beer would likely have caused the death of half a dozen governments and the doubling of the income tax would have met with the fiercest opposition.

But war changes all things and not the least astonishing thing is the plan seriously proposed by Arthur Henderson, labor leader in the House of Commons, and acquiesced to by the chancellor of the exchequer, of taxing working men's wages to replace indirect taxes, such as the tea and sugar duties, which now fall so heavily and unevenly on the working class.

An income tax on wages and the free breakfast table has long been a battle cry of tax reformers, but such a proposition would scarcely have been seriously proposed in the house of commons in normal times. In his discussion of the beer tax, Mr. George explained that retail liquor dealers will be authorized to charge one cent more for each half pint of beer. The additional tax on beer of one cent additional on each glass the retailers will realize $5.76 additional on each barrel of beer, leaving a margin of $1.65 to be adjusted between brewers and public housekeepers.

Six cents per pound is the tax

GERMAN SPIES DISCOVERED

Reading, England, Nov. 28.—Two soldiers, a lance corporal and a private in the 11th regiment of Kitchener's new army stationed at Colford, have been proved to be German spies and have been "dealt with" by the military authorities. Copies of letters relating to the movements and proposed movements of troops were found in their possession.

ZAPATA KEEPS GOOD ORDER

Washington, Nov. 28.—No mention of outrages upon Spaniards in Mexico City by Zapata troops such as had been reported to the Spanish ambassador here were made in dispatches today from the Brazilian minister there. He reported Zapata forces keeping good order and made no reference to the position of Villa or his troops.

The Injured One: "If it wasn't for this blasted fence I'd 'soak' you a good 'un.'"

FARMERS ARE URGED TO HOLD LIVESTOCK

Columbus, Nov. 28.—"Hold your livestock for a few days or longer."

This is the urgent advice sent out by Governor Cox today to farmers over Ohio. Release of the strict quarantine for foot and mouth disease yesterday caused a rush of shipments of fat cattle and hogs to market today, and a serious drop in prices paid for livestock for slaughter is feared for Monday according to reports reaching the governor.

A statement given out at the governor's office said: "Governor Cox is advising the farmers against congesting the market. Shipments are being made into stockyards in such quantities, as to bring about a disparity in price as between Chicago and Ohio. If this is done an advantage will be taken of the present situation against the farmer. There is every indication that there will be a congestion in the stockyards Monday and this may result in a marked drop in prices. In short, it is his judgment that shipments should not be of such number as to destroy the harmony of price between Chicago and Ohio."

Miners Sentenced For Court Contempt

Grafton, W. Va., Nov. 28.—Judge A. G. Dayton, in the federal district court sitting at Philippi, late yesterday sentenced Paul Scorie to serve six months in the Ohio county jail at Wheeling for violation of an order of the court in connection with the miners strike at Colliers, W. Va. More than a year ago Scorie and a number of other strikers and their sympathizers were held to be in contempt of court and given jail sentences.

After they had served a part of the time an appeal to the United States circuit court of appeals was granted and they were released on bond. Recently the appellate court decided against Scorie and he was called in the district court for re-sentencing.

MAN WHO PLANNED FLOODING OF GERMAN TRENCHES ON THE RIVER YSER IS DECORATED BY KING LEOPOLD

Dunkirk, France, Nov. 28.—The man who planned the flooding of the German positions on the Yser has been decorated by the order of King Leopold, and is likely to receive some similar recognition from the allies governments. This man, whose name has not been made public is the keeper of the great Nieuport sluices which control the water in the canals and dikes. His position gave him an unrivalled knowledge of the possibilities of inundating the country and he pointed out to the Belgian general staff that by using the railway embankment as a dike and by breaking the canal bank in certain places, they could inundate most of the region occupied by the German trenches and advanced gun positions.

MORE PLACES FILLED BY TURNER

Columbus, Nov. 28.—Charles H. Duncan, prosecutor of Champaign county, will be second assistant attorney general, and Marshall G. Fenton, city solicitor of Chillicothe, will be chief clerk under Attorney-General Edward C. Turner. These appointments were announced today by Mr. Turner.

Duncan will succeed P. J. Monahan.

BURGLAR MAY BE NUTTY

Cleveland, O., Nov. 28.—Probate court here will be asked by Mayor Baker to examine the mental condition of Walton Linton, of Ashland, who late yesterday burglarized the mayor's home. "I would not say that Linton is mentally unbalanced," said the mayor, but I believe his story that he was never in such trouble before, and is not criminally inclined.

Linton pleaded guilty to robbery in police court today and was held to await action of the grand jury under $1,500 bail.

Linton entered the home of Mayor Baker, pointed a loaded revolver at Mrs. Baker and escaped with $600 worth of jewelry and $7 cash. He was locked up a short time later after a fight in which he tried to shoot a policeman.

"Times Are Getting Hard For Those Retiring From State Office"

Columbus, O., Nov. 28.—Attorney-General Hogan came near going to work breakfastless today because thieves stole all the food in the pantry of his family home.

"Times are becoming dangerous for officials and their families," said he. "When the wife of Mayor Baker of Cleveland is held up, and the attorney general's family goes hungry because its supplies are stolen, and as this happens so short a time before the attorney-general is thrown out of office, surely the times are hard."

CANNONADING HEARD

Amsterdam, via London, Nov. 28.—2:30 a. m.—A telegram to the Nieuwe Rotterdamse Courant from Oostburg, Holland, states that sounds of a violent cannon fire were again audible Friday in a southeasterly direction, indicating that the British fleet was again bombarding the coast.

GRAVE YARD HOLD-UP

Cincinnati, Nov. 28.—The Cincinnati art museum and academy were the recipients today of a gift of $10,000 from Mrs. M. Morris White and Mrs. Clarence Price.

Yinka, miners who also were sentenced for contempt and appealed their cases are still at liberty on bond, the appellate court having taken no action in their cases.

Hogan May Give Nye Bribe Money To Ohio Destitute Miners

Columbus, O., Nov. 28.—Attorney General Hogan debated with himself today what disposition shall be made of $200, bribe money which Dr. George B. Nye, former representative from Pike county, received from detectives and turned over to the late Samuel J. Vinig, former speaker of the house, in trust, and which was turned over to Mr. Hogan today by Vernon Vinig, son of the former speaker.

The attorney general declared he thought seriously of giving it for the help of destitute miners in Eastern Ohio.

Before Speaker Vinig's death, which occurred several weeks ago at his home in Celina he had discussed several times with Mr. Hogan what disposition should be made of the currency, which he called "nobody's money." Nye had given it to him after having received it from a detective who tried to bribe Dr. Nye for voting for special legislation. Dr. Nye declared he took the money in order to secure evidence for prosecution of the detective.

Nye, as a reward for turning state's evidence, was given immunity by the state. All of those implicated upon his testimony, including former Railroad Commissioner Kirby of Toledo were acquitted when they came to trial.

Corn Boys Urged To Wear 'Sunday Best' On Eastern Jaunt

Columbus, O., Nov. 28.—Corn boys who take the special trip to Washington and other eastern cities beginning next Monday, should wear their best ordinary clothes, instead of khaki uniforms. This is the argument presented to the agricultural commission, which has charge of the special excursion, by parents of a few corn boys and state officials interested in the trip.

"Eastern people, particularly those of New York, should see and think of Ohio's corn boys as prosperous, young gentlemen fully as modern as an city folks, and for this reason the boys should dress in their 'Sunday best' and not khaki," said a letter presented to President A. P. Sandles of the agricultural commission.

Boys have been urged by officials in charge of the trip to wear boy scout uniforms. Last year about half appeared in this dress.

Governor Cox replied to the suggestion that uniforms be eliminated by saying: "I think there is no danger of the boys not looking good to people of cities they visit, no matter how they dress."

BOARD AFTER DOCTOR

Columbus, O., Nov. 28.—Dr. Arthur C. Goode, of Lima, formerly of Columbus, today was cited to appear before the state medical board, Dec. 12, to answer charges of gross immorality in connection with his working in the office of Dr. Arthur C. Graham, advertising specialist of Columbus. The board recently revoked the license of Dr. Graham on charges similar to those against Dr. Goode.

BILLY BUTT-IN

For the real lightning change artist you'll have to find it 'our Mexican neighbors. Most undeveloped folks think they're going some when they change whiskers, etc., so fast you can't see 'em, but the Mexicans work th' same stunt with presidents. How's that? Who's president down there now? Couldn't say. I haven't read th' papers since morning. Here's th' weather: Ohio—Fair in north, rain in south portion tonight, Sunday rain and warmer. Kentucky—Rain tonight and Sunday.

Many Novel Events At Novelitte Rink; Big Mask Feature

The Mask Carnival to be held at the Novelitte Skating Academy next Wednesday evening promises to be the best of its kind ever held in the city.

Manager E. F. Vernon will leave nothing undone to make it a grand success. Costumes of every description will be on the floor.

Six prizes will be given, three to the men and three to the women. The prizes will be for the most elaborate, most original, and most comical costumes.

Tuesday night of next week will be featured by a Carnation march. Manager Vernon has received fifty pair of new skates making a total of 650 pair on hand. Increased business forced him to order the new skates. The skates used at the rink are said to be the best ever used in Portsmouth.

The week of December 7 will be the feature week at the rink. The following program has been arranged for the various days. Monday, Ladies' night, all ladies admitted free; Tuesday Skidoo night. 23 prizes will be given away on this night; Wednesday, general skating; Thursday, dash for the North pole by two parties of men each. This event will be interesting. The members of the parties are blindfolded and try to find a large pole in the center of the rink. Friday evening, Ladies' night. Saturday, three sessions.

A large Christmas tree will be placed in the middle of the floor Christmas day, and illuminated with electric bulbs. Christmas morning will be for children only and each patron will be presented with a box of candy. The Christmas tree program was presented in New York by Manager Vernon and it was declared a decided success by the press. After the first of the year there will be series of races.

HAD TO HUNT HUNTING GROUNDS

J. T. Carey, superintendent of this division of the N. & W. is due to arrive home tonight from a week's hunting trip down in Virginia. Mr. Carey and Attorney Arthur H. Bannan run into several counties in which no hunting was permitted and they lost three days in finding a county in which the hunting ban had been lifted.

COLORED BAND ON THE JOB

Seeing the reports of the condition of Joe Hill, well known colored citizen, the newly organized colored band, is taking no chances, and is busy rehearsing a funeral march. Joe was the leader of the Lewis band of some years ago, and is conceded to be one of the best friends of his own race in the city. He has many friends who sincerely hope the band won't have the opportunity to use its dirge, but the band isn't going to be caught napping.

Catarrh Ten Years

Cost Me
A Lot of Money.

Peruna Promptly Cured Me.

Mr. Charles S. May, 12 Water St., Boston, N. Y., writes: "I had catarrh for ten years and tried a great many kinds of medicines, which cost me a lot of money but did me no good. Instead of getting better I seemed to get worse. My eyes were bloodshot, my nose swelled so that I was ashamed to go in company. I was tired all the time and I would get so dizzy that I could hardly hold my head. I used about ten bottles, and I am cured of catarrh, and the dizzy feeling has left me and I am not bothered with it any more. I have Peruna in the house, and when I feel a cold coming on I take a little bit of it and it does me good."

SIXTH REASON FOR SAFETY OF DEPOSITS IN
The Royal Savings & Loan Company.
619 GALLIA ST.

1. No money deposited in this company is loaned on personal securities of any kind and hence opportunities for loss are reduced to a minimum. Money loaned on personal securities or chattels is frequently lost; but our money is loaned only on first mortgage real estate security and will be repaid. This fact and that our borrowers begin to repay immediately by weekly or monthly payments mean security to our depositors.

2. Four per cent interest, compounded every three months, paid on deposits. (See seventh reason next week.)

HAVE CLUE

It was stated Saturday that a tangible clue had been obtained to the thieves who broke into the Portsmouth Golf club home, and made such a rich haul, and that an arrest will likely result from it in a few days.

Judgment For $20

Judgment was secured by Mark Crawford in Squire Byron's court Saturday for $20 from Harvey Powell, colored, on a promissory note for that amount, now overdue.

To Consult Specialist

TORPEDO BOAT CONTROLLED BY WIRELESS WAVES.

Above: The Nathalia. Below, at left: Wireless operator controlling torpedo from shore by means of wireless waves. Below, at right: John Hays Hammond operating his electric dog, which may be propelled in any direction merely by holding a light directly in front of the "eyes".

United States Army engineers will gather at Fresh Water Cove, Mass., in the next few days to witness the tests of the wireless torpedo boat Nathalia, invented by John Hays Hammond, Jr., of Gloucester, Mass., son of John Hays Hammond, the noted mining engineer. The tests will determine whether the United States government will purchase the exclusive rights to the torpedo boat, which is controlled by wireless waves from land. These rights include the design for a wirelessly steered torpedo with an explosive carrying capacity of 4,000 pounds. In preliminary tests young Hammond directed his wireless boat by means of waves transmitted from the Hammond Laboratory, a distance of 28 miles out to sea, as far as the Graves' Light.

Harry Brandel, five year old son of Earl Brandel, employed at the Davis Drug Co., and who resides at 43 Eighth street, was the proudest, happiest and biggest little chap in the city, Saturday morning, when he was presented with the prize offered by Adam Plan, well known Eleventh street baker, in the winner of the contest which was inaugurated on August 2, 1914 and which closed on Thanksgiving evening. Earl was a winner with thousands upon thousands of votes to spare, receiving the huge total of 216,890 votes against 27,615 votes received by Robert Clark, his nearest competitor.

It was a runaway race for Master Harry, who could have released his vigilance weeks ago and still come out ahead. However he went on the theory that there is many a slip between the cup and the lip and kept plugging away to the last minute, bringing in over 7,000 votes on the last day.

The contest, which was spirited and friendly, was one of the most successful ever put on in this city and when it is remembered that 575,480 votes were cast, it can be readily understood that quite an array of "Buster Brown," "Quaker" and "Milk Maid" brand products of Baker Plan's oven was consumed. The wrapper on each loaf of bread was good for five votes, while at certain times coupons calling for extra votes were inserted. Quite a number of contestants started in the contest but dropped out when they found they were behind. Had they kept in the fight it is thought that fully one million votes would have been cast.

At the conclusion of the contest, the judges issued the following statement:

Portsmouth, O., Nov. 27, 1914. We, the undersigned, judges appointed to decide the Boy and Girl Contest inaugurated by Adam Plan on August 2, 1914, and which closed Thanksgiving 1914, do hereby find that the winner to be Harry Brandel, who received 216,890 votes, his nearest competitor being Robert Clark who received 27,615 votes.

Not counting more than 100 candidates totals who were entered as contestants and who did not make any race. We find that a grand total of 575,480 votes were cast.

Walter B. Smith, Gen. L. Gableman, F. W. Sheridan, Judges.

The votes as tallied by the judges are as follows:

Harry Brandel, 216,890; Froschel Wright, 16,410; Wm. Bastine, 3,985; Margaret Bernthold, 6,920; Chas. Burke, 4,385; Clara Blair, 3,785; Howard Boyce, 5,425; Ellis Brown, 2,800; Bertha Alice Curry, 4,750; Marie Carby, 5,030; Robert Clark, 27,615; Hubert Harrington, 2,230; Howard Crosby, 3,235; Horace Delotel, 4,105; Dorothy Drennan, 19,275; Lester Davis, 1,150; Ralph Davis, 1,535; Geo. Quite a number of contestants started in the contest but dropped out when they found they were behind. Had they kept in the fight it is thought that fully one million votes would have been cast.

At the conclusion of the contest, the judges issued the following statement:

Portsmouth, O., Nov. 27, 1914. We, the undersigned, judges appointed to decide the Boy and Girl Contest inaugurated by Adam Plan on August 2, 1914, and which closed Thanksgiving 1914, do hereby find that the winner to be Harry Brandel, who received 216,890 votes, his nearest competitor being Robert Clark who received 27,615 votes.

Not counting more than 100 candidates totals who were entered as contestants and who did not make any race. We find that a grand total of 575,480 votes were cast.

Walter B. Smith, Gen. L. Gableman, F. W. Sheridan, Judges.

The votes as tallied by the judges are as follows:

Harry Brandel, 216,890; Froschel Wright, 16,410; Wm. Bastine, 3,985; Margaret Bernthold, 6,920; Chas. Burke, 4,385; Clara Blair, 3,785; Howard Boyce, 5,425; Ellis Brown, 2,800; Bertha Alice Curry, 4,750; Marie Carby, 5,030; Robert Clark, 27,615; Hubert Harrington, 2,230; Howard Crosby, 3,235; Horace Delotel, 4,105; Dorothy Drennan, 19,275; Lester Davis, 1,150; Ralph Davis, 1,535; Geo. Frasher, 1,425; Lewis Finger, 9,360; Ross McConnell, 1,630; Paul Hunter, 2,450; Fay Hamilton, 1,555; Nellie Hubbin, 2,865; Howard Henson, 3,470; Maude Johnson, 2,865; Raymond Johnson, 1,450; Chester Johnson, 9,650; Carlton Keller, 3,110; Chas. Frank Lowry, 15,195; Florence Larr, 4,955; Forest Albert Larey, 5,185; Orville Martin, 12,455; Howard Mason, 1,840; Mabel Matthews, 2,094; Daphne May, 3,955; Maria Moore, 1,075; Martin Melvin, 8,950; Oscar Newman, 3,710; Louise Ouster, 2,195; Lowell Odell, 5,120; Dewey, Pierce, 1,160; Alma Raika, 5,500; Harold Reg, 1,655; Carl Seerist, 5,525; Savilla Smith, 1,920; Ruth Shaw, 2,445; Jean Be Smith, 4,755; Martin Stark, 10,635; Lucile Seikinf, 4,485; Henry Snyder, 1,525; Fred Terrell, 2,885; Harry Whitefield, 3,110; Edward Westphal, 3,100. All other contestants received 1,000 votes each.

Harry Brandel, five year old son of Earl Brandel, employed at the Davis Drug Co., and who resides at 43 Eighth street, was the proudest, happiest and biggest little chap in the city, Saturday morning, when he was presented with the prize offered by Adam Plan, well known Eleventh street baker, in the winner of the contest which was inaugurated on August 2, 1914 and which closed on Thanksgiving evening. Earl was a winner with thousands upon thousands of votes to spare, receiving the huge total of 216,890 votes against 27,615 votes received by Robert Clark, his nearest competitor.

It was a runaway race for Master Harry, who could have released his vigilance weeks ago and still come out ahead. However he went on the theory that there is many a slip between the cup and the lip and kept plugging away to the last minute, bringing in over 7,000 votes on the last day.

The contest, which was spirited and friendly, was one of the most successful ever put on in this city and when it is remembered that 575,480 votes were cast, it can be readily understood that quite an array of "Buster Brown," "Quaker" and "Milk Maid" brand products of Baker Plan's oven was consumed. The wrapper on each loaf of bread was good for five votes, while at certain times coupons calling for extra votes were inserted. Quite a number of contestants started in the contest but dropped out when they found they were behind. Had they kept in the fight it is thought that fully one million votes would have been cast.

German Battleship Hits Mine In Baltic, Petrograd Reports

Paris, Nov. 28 (1:45 a. m.)—A dispatch to the Matin from Petrograd states that it is reported there that the German battleship, Wilhelm der Grosse struck a mine and sank in the Baltic, but adds that there is no official confirmation of the rumor.

The battleship Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, evidently referred to in the Matin dispatch, is one of Germany's old battleships, having been built in 1901. The warship is of 10,790 tons displacement and carries a crew of 658 men. Her main battery is composed of four 9.4-inch and fourteen 5-inch guns.

WAR BULLETINS

PRZEMYSL HOLDING OUT.

Amsterdam, via London, Nov. 28 (9:05 a. m.)—The newspaper Maasbode publishes a Berlin telegram giving the latest word from the besieged city of Przemyśl in Galicia. It was received in Vienna Friday by pigeon post and says:

"We are doing very well. Do not be disquieted."

ENGAGEMENT AT JUZVERAN

Paris, Nov. 28. (10:40 a. m.)—A dispatch received here from Petrograd reports that "An important engagement occurred Nov. 27 with a Turkish column to the west of Juzveran. In other sections of this front there have been engagements of only minor importance."

Big Turkish Force Marching On Suez

Amsterdam, via London, Nov. 28 (9 a. m.)—According to a Berlin message to the telegraph, Cairo, reports that 70,000 Turkish troops under Izzet Pasha, are marching against the Suez Canal. This army includes 10,000 Indians with 600 camels. The reports also state that the Turks have built a field railway to the Elakel Oasis.

The road to the Suez Canal, according to the dispatch, is barred by the British with a line of trenches and with artillery positions.

Arrests Promised In N.Y. Murder Case

New York, Nov. 28—With twenty-five poultry dealers under suspicion of having conspired to bring about the death of Barnett Ball, who was shot and killed in a street here Tuesday night, arrests within 24 hours were promised by the police today. Ball, a dealer in poultry, had opposed the methods of a so-called poultry trust, and, according to his friends had for some time been needed for assassination. The murder was characterized at the coroner's office as similar to the case of Herman Rosenthal, and District Attorney Whitman's detectives are working with the police on a theory that gunmen were hired to kill Ball.

RELIEF FOR BELGIANS

New York, Nov. 28—Mme. Laila Vandervelde, wife of the Belgian minister of state, left this city for Boston last night on the second stage of her journey in the United States in search of aid for the persons in want in her country. She raised more than $200,000 in money and supplies in the Middle West.

TRENCH EDITIONS

Washington, Nov. 28.—"Trench editions" of Belgian newspapers have reported to the Belgian legation here disclosing the efforts being made to re-establish communication by the men on the firing line and their families in territory occupied by the Germans or who have fled to France, England or Holland.

WEALTHY MAN A SUSPECT IN GIRL'S SLAYING

Houlton, Me., Nov. 28—The end of the first week of the Aroostook grand jury session finds a strong belief here that six indictments will be found in the case of Mildred Sullivan, the seventeen-year-old girl, who was mysteriously slain. It is whispered that a true bill has been returned against a wealthy Houlton man, alleged to have been drawn into the case by the testimony of Ambrose Bridge, and Katherine Michaud.

It is hinted by friends of Dr. L. E. Dudley, Alice Pelletier and Kate Michaud, who are charged with complicity in the case, that if the evidence in the possession of the state did not prove strong enough to convince the grand jury that a certain wealthy man was responsible for the girl's death, the defense would make a big feature of this phase of the murder.

British Charts For Use Of U. S. Ships

Washington, Nov. 28—It would be practically impossible for the United States navy to make any strategic move outside of American waters unless it first purchased British admiralty charts to insure safe navigation. This statement is made by Captain Thomas Washington, hydrographer of the navy, in his annual report today. He says that his office has now fairly begun the task of reproducing by zincography these British charts of which it would be necessary to purchase 1752 and the hope is expressed that the United States may soon be independent of foreign chart-makers for the safe navigation of its ships in peace and war.

Will Shoot 'Em Down WANT TROOPS WITHDRAWN

Amsterdam, via London, Nov. 28 (5:45 a. m.)—The Berliner Tageblatt, quoting an article referring to the allegations that British airmen violated Swiss neutrality in the recent raid on the Zeppelin factory at Friedrichshafen, says:

"In case of a repetition of the violation of Swiss neutrality by France or England, it is not to be expected that Germany will respect Swiss neutrality on the Belfort frontier. The Swiss federal assembly has ordered that all aviators flying over Swiss territory be shot down without further orders."

Washington, Nov. 28.—A request from Governor Ammons of Colorado, that federal troops be withdrawn from some of the coal strike districts was received today by President Wilson and referred to Secretary Garrison who will discuss the question with the president next week.

TROOPS

Amsterdam, via London, Nov. 28.—Directly following Lord Kitchener's speeches at the Lord Mayors' banquet in London, in which he said he had 1,250,000 men ready to land in France, there has been a steady stream of transports from

Myron T. Herrick Is Paid Great Honor On Leaving His Station

Paris, Nov. 28 (10:45 a. m.)—embassy to British subjects. As Myron T. Herrick, the retiring American ambassador to Paris accompanied by Mrs. Herrick and the members of his family, left Paris for Havre this morning where they will take the steamer Rochambeau for New York.

GOOSE CREEK

The Germany Hollow base ball team easily defeated the "burg" team last Sunday afternoon, the score being 11 to 1. Haines and Burk did the heavy work for Wheelersburg, while Simon and Sherman worked for the winning team.

Fred Lang, of Dogwood Ridge, had several of his fingers severely crushed a few days ago while loading posts on the Wm. Rose farm on Pine Creek. One of his fingers was almost severed.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rose and family, who have been living on a farm near Powellville, will soon locate in Scottdale, where he is having a home constructed that will be modern in every respect. Mr. Rose has disposed of his fine farm place and hereafter expects to take life easy.

Rev. Munsey, a noted minister of West Virginia, will begin a two weeks' revival meeting in the Pine Creek church on next Sunday. He will be ably assisted by Rev. Fox, a young minister of Fox Hollow.

The young men of this community have organized and formed a Pedro Club. The club meets every week.

A token of appreciation, Mr. Herrick was presented with several pieces of silver plate by members of the British colony here.

A detail of French officers presented Mrs. Herrick an enormous bouquet of roses which were added to the great collection of floral contributions which filled the Herrick car.

Among the many evidences of appreciation handed to Mr. Herrick on his last day in Paris was an address of thanks from a number of French officers, letters and addresses from French deputies from the board of the American ambulance corps, from the American chamber of commerce and from the French society of men of letters.

Mr. Dan Gleim and wife, of Lower Pine Creek, passed a very pleasant day recently with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schneider, at Wheelersburg.

Miss Leona Oakes, of Rurden, came last Saturday for a few days stay with home folks.

Miss Tena Simon went to Portsmouth Monday for a week's stay with acquaintances.

A large number of Mr. Adam Gleim's friends assisted him in raising the frame work of a large new barn he is having built on his large river farm east of Wheelersburg.

Mrs. John Oakes and daughters, Misses Leona, Edith and Esther, were mingling over last Sunday with friends in this section.

Mr. Jacob Werner, of Gallia street, city, was a business caller hereabouts one day the former part of the week.

John Hoover, after a brief business visit on Dogwood Ridge, returned to the Peerless Saturday afternoon.

Misses Mary McMakin and Geraldine Hyland, of Franklin Furnace, were among a group of young folks who enjoyed the day last Sunday at the rural home of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Lang, near Wheelersburg.

ISADORA DUNCAN BACK FROM THE WAR

Isadora Duncan

New York, Nov. 28.—Mme. Isadora Duncan, the famous dancer, arrived here from the war zone in France on the Franconia. "I have led at the Denerville Casino, in Normandy, the war made it impossible for me to keep my pupils near Paris has been transformed in the old, distracted world, so I sent them over here to Rye, N. Y."

LARGE FLEET OF WARSHIPS IS SIGHTED

Buenos Aires, Nov. 28.—A dispatch received here from Montevideo says that a squadron of ten British warships has been sighted 300 miles from Montevideo. The direction in which these ships were proceeding is not given.

Lima, Peru, Nov. 28.—A telegram received here from Iquique, Chile, says that four warships, nationality unknown, have been seen off the Chilean coast steaming north.

Audacious Saivaged

London, Nov. 28.—Persistent rumors are in circulation that the battleship Audacious, which was sunk by a mine, or a submarine, off the north coast of Ireland on October 27, has been salvaged. According to these reports, the wrecking vessels of the admiralty succeeded in getting the big guns all the Audacious and afterward hauled her. The ship is said to be in condition for repairs and service after a short time. This report may be another myth like the passage of the Russian through England, but it is generally circulated.

TO CONSIDER PROGRESSIVE DISSOLUTION

New York, Nov. 28.—Removal of the national headquarters of the Progressive party from this city to Chicago is favored by a number of the local leaders of the Progressives, according to reports published here today. Action looking toward this change is expected to be taken at the meeting of the party's executive committee in Chicago on December 2, when the suggestion that the party be dissolved, it is said, will be considered also.

VICE WAR IN RICHMOND, VIRGINIA.

Richmond, Virginia, like Dayton, Ohio, is in the throes of a war over the solution of the vice problem. Only Richmond has a segregated district and has named a committee of five to study the problem for a year and then make a report to the mayor and other authorities as to their conclusions. This week, however, the problem became acute owing to the fact that Mayor Ainslie, of Richmond, ordered all places in the segregated district closed for two days, Wednesday and Thursday, advancing as the reason that there was to be a great foot ball game in Richmond Thursday and he wished to safeguard the thousands of college students who would be in town for the game. This has stirred up a lot of comment among Virginia papers, some of them taking ground that it was a reflection upon the honor of the youth of Virginia and Carolina and others that if it was good to close these places for two days, it would be good to close them for all time.

By far the most interesting comment was made by the Rounder World-News, in its Wednesday issue, and what it says may well apply with equal force elsewhere. The World-News said: "What Mayor Ainslie has done, will, in our judgment, prove a profound shock to this Commonwealth. Like the order of the czar of Russia closing the vodka shops, it will stir the consciences and souls of men everywhere in Virginia, and lead to a demand that what Mayor Ainslie has done for two days for the sake of clean foot ball, he shall do for all the days of all the years for the sake of clean manhood and clean womanhood."

"When the authorities of a great community like Richmond can conform to the law's demands in order to protect the bodies and characters of guests, surely they can be equally just and equally true towards men and women who dwell among them."

"Prior to Mayor Ainslie's order Richmond's segregated district was in full blast. Vice was rampant. Along with it depravity and disease prospered. Special arrangements were made for the great influx of young men. The dives prepared to take and keep them and receive them until debauchery and revelry were at an end."

"Suddenly the mayor acted. The dives are closed. The red light has gone out for two days, and boys and men who attend the foot ball game will be safe from at least one form of evil. The crash of strident music, the mercurial of painted misery and dissipation will hide behind closed doors and closed shutters, and Richmond will have a moment and a space of purity and health."

"Tomorrow the music and misery, the dissipation and deformity, will open their doors and their shutters, and the red light will glow brightly as ever. The endless line of boys and men will resume its ceaseless pressure, and the canker of shame and disgrace and of decay and ruin will return to its former vigor."

"And Richmond's police, having thrown their protection about a foot ball game, will watch the procession pass along. Listening to the music of the district they will guard with care its painted misery and mock the pleas of those who would have it otherwise."

SUBMARINES AND BATTLESHIPS.

(Washington Post)

Upon the evidence presented by the European war, it would be worse than folly to abandon the construction of dreadnaughts and rely solely upon a great fleet of submarines. It may prove, as Rear Admiral Sigsbee suggests, that the British superdreadnaught, Antares, was destroyed by a German submarine, but even though this were known definitely to be a fact, the case against the larger type of battleships would still be standing upon thin legs.

As an auxiliary service, however, the submarine have demonstrated their effectiveness. The plain lesson of the European naval engagements is that the United States can not afford to neglect the rebuilding of a large fleet of submarines. Few nations of the world have so large a coast line to protect, and few can offer such prizes in the form of large cities, to a foreign foe.

For twelve years the general board of the navy has recommended an ultimate battleship strength of forty-eight capital ships, to be secured by the year 1925 at the latest. One or at battleship for each state in the Union. That is what the program of the navy board means, and safety lies in the perfection of the program at the earliest possible moment.

Uneasy lies the head that holds a saloon license. For W. B. W., just won't go way back and sit down.

DIXON'S LATEST NOVEL.

Some people may like Thomas Dixon's latest effort, "The Victim", but it did not appeal to us. It is just a hip-boony, hurry up sort of a poor excuse of an effort to martyrize Jefferson Davis, with an impossible and flimsy love story dodging in and out like a scared rabbit. Nowadays people recognize that Jefferson Davis was a great statesman, a great administrator and that he was undoubtedly the strongest of all the coterie of Southern leaders. He never aspired to saintliness and were he alive today we venture the assertion that he would be the first man to laugh at this effort of Thomas Dixon to tack little wings all over his body. Dixon has written some strong novels. "The Victim", however, is not one of them.

WAR AND OUR EXPORT TRADE.

The effect of the European war upon our export trade is strikingly shown in a bulletin issued by the statistical division of the Bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, of the department of commerce of the United States government. Not only has there been a decrease in the exports to the nations actually at war, but our entire foreign trade has been reduced by the demoralization of the ocean trade carrying vessels. Many of our great markets, notably that of Germany, has been entirely wiped out by the blockade of her ports, while other consumers, willing to buy are unable to get our goods on account of lack of facilities for transportation or the disruption of long-established financial exchanges which was mostly carried on through the banks of London.

Thus in October, 1913, we exported to Belgium goods valued at $6,420,833. In October, 1914, our merchandise exported to Belgium amounted to $146,650, a decrease of $5,973,383.

In October, 1913, our exports to Germany amounted to $18,333,396. In October, 1914, they only were $17,508, a loss of $48,415,888.

In October 1913, our exports to Russia were $2,407,738. In October 1914, they were $1,980,100, an increase of $1,572,422.

In October 1913 our exports to France were $26,194,804. In October 1914, they were $17,077,469, a loss of $9,157,335.

In October 1913, we exported to the United Kingdom merchandise valued at $70,991,350. In October 1914, exports were $72,474,221, a gain of $1,482,871.

In October 1913, we exported to Canada $32,102,217. In October 1914, $23,586,256, a loss of $8,515,961.

In October 1913, we exported to Japan goods valued at $7,808,412. In October 1914, $4,781,852, a loss of $3,026,560.

In October 1913 we exported to Argentina, a neutral nation, goods valued at $5,168,450. In October 1914, $1,683,493, a loss of $3,484,957.

The total decrease in our export trade in October 1914, as compared with October 1913, was $76,456,344.

Imports for October 1914, increased $5,111,218 as compared with the similar month of the previous year, the increase being mainly from Argentina, Australia, United Kingdom, Japan and the Netherlands.

We haven't heard any kicks from New Boston about our new water works plant. As an interested consumer New Boston is entitled to sit in with the criticism club along with the rest of us.

Having put herself on the foot ball map by soundly trouncing Chillicothe it is now expected that the citizens of Waverly will begin to allude to Chillicothe in a patronizing manner as the little town up on Paint Creek.

"Well anyway, if we haven't got a subway or an overhead crossing at Kendall avenue, we have sold the bonds and have been paying interest on them for over a year. So we poor tax payers should worry," said the man sitting next to us on the street car this morning.

Well, well, here's that bridegroom editor up at Oak Hill who babbled over for a column over his joy at entering upon the married estate, now telling us of a long, long hike he took all alone over the hills last Sunday morning. Why alone?

We feel certain that those quarantine men up at Columbus had in view the deadly war of extermination annually waged by George Holman upon Peter Rabbit's family when they fixed the date of the quarantine to coincide with his vacation this year. George will have to keep his vacation date a secret next time.

Only 41 more days until the flood prophet is in our midst.

State Democratic Chairman William L. Finley announces that he has discovered the cause of Democratic defeat. He says it was because the Ohio Democratic congressmen did not get into the campaign and make a few speeches. What's eatin' you William? Trying to get back at the proletariat? Didn't they have enough woes without wishing a lot of congressional spell binders upon them?

One of the cleverest short stories we have read lately is "The Phoenix" by Richard Washburn Child in the current number of the Saturday Evening Post. It is clean and delightful all the way through.

The Ironton Register did not issue a paper Thanksgiving Day and in announcing the fact mapped out quite an ambitious program for its editors, staff and employees. It said they were all going to church at 10, then spend the rest of the day partaking of turkey, oysters and other good things. That's what The Register said they would do. But did they? We want to know, we do. Come across, Moore.

Had to see Water Works Engineer Witmer in the frame of mind to say that he does not expect to recommend final acceptance and settlement of water works contracts until everything is thoroughly satisfactory. Adam has been militantly of the same opinion for some time. Unanimous consent now being secured let's get the job finished up.

MARRIAGE UP TO DATE.

Ironton has an up-to-date bachelor contractor who is not going to take any chances on love entering into his matrimonial scheme for the future. So he just inserted an advertisement in the Ironton Register and set out the facts as to his condition in life, prospects and his desires. Finding it difficult to keep a suitable housekeeper he has decided to marry one but he wants it understood that it is a business transaction, not a love affair. Then he sets out the kind of a woman he wants. She must be a good cook and a good housekeeper and not inclined to gadding about. She must be settled in her habits and she must appreciate what he is doing for her in giving her his name and a good home. Also he wants to see and investigate the women who aspire to his hand. As a precaution against a wild rush from Portsmouth, he will not consider any woman outside of Lawrence county, being a firm believer in patronizing home industry.

This excellent gentleman says that he has had dozens of answers to his advertisement and that he expects to find a suitable wife in the lot.

So there we have it. Marriage up to date, no love, no courtship, just a plain, straightforward business proposition from beginning to end. We cannot see however why the Ironton man did not go the whole road and apply the Eugenic principles to his prospective bride. A man who is as careful as he is ought not to take such fearful chances by overlooking a bet like that. We suggest that he advertise over again.

In the interest of some very dear bachelor friends of our acquaintance, we will keep close tab on the outcome of the matrimonial venture of the Ironton man. They may profit by his experiences.

WHAT TWO BOYS HAVE DONE.

Fifteen years ago Thursday a couple of young boys, Harry and Charles Collett started a small weekly newspaper at Ironton. They were just kids, both being students in the Ironton schools. But those boys were workers and they had the germs of born newspaper men in them. From the first their venture was a success. It was different and it filled a niche all of its own. Then as the boys grew older and more experienced their paper grew with them. Today, 15 years after, they have a bright, snappy, independent semi-weekly paper, well patronized by merchants and prosperous from every angle. What the future has in store for them no one can tell. From here it looks as though those boys were on their way to giving Ironton another daily paper. If they do they will surely make competition sit up and take notice as they have builded their paper slowly but surely into the affections of the populace. Anyway, whatever the future we extend our congratulations to the Collett boys for what they have done, coupled with wishes for good luck in whatever they may do in the days to come.

A STORM IN FLANDERS.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

A blizzard is raging down from the North Sea. It sweeps across the bare dunes of Flanders. Men are crouching there; they have been crouching there for a month. For days it has rained, and at times there has been stinging sleet. Now it is a real blizzard; it penetrates to the vitals of the thousands and thousands who have neither fire nor shelter, who stand waist deep in the freezing mud and slush of endless zigzag ditches.

The cannon roars no more dreadfully than does the storm. Hands shake with fever and with bitter cold. From time to time a man drops dead; and he has no wound, the misery of the storm has slain him. Pneumonia spreads along the ditches, unseen and more terrible than the flash of bayonets.

The plains are flooded. Dikes have been broken, and the ceaseless rain piles up the water on the soggy fields. A whole regiment is destroyed by mere water, underhandedly and miserably drowned; glad, probably, to see no more of Flanders.

Dryness and warmth, elemental comforts of humanity, are beyond attainment. There is little food. There is no refuge for the sick or for the wounded. There is a flat monotony of mental and physical torture. At night the dead are buried; by day a company may go sloshing knee deep through the quagmire, to dig itself into a new zigzag of watery ditches.

This is war with the winter only beginning. War and winter are only beginning.

Villa still says that he doesn't want to be president of Mexico. But then he doesn't want any one else to have the job. What's the answer?

We don't see why Huerta is not called upon to supervise the strategy board of the Allies. He can give more pointers on sticking around where one's not wanted than any other warrior of recent times.

Appointment. Wine. Women. Dismissal. Disgrace. Such seems to be the brief, but comprehensive biography of many police officers in Portsmouth.

The "Society for Canned Policemen" is growing so rapidly in membership that it will soon be able to hold an overflow meeting.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to extend our sincere thanks to the kind friends, for services rendered, during the fatal illness and death of our mother. We especially thank Rev. Mr. McAfee and his choir for singing her favorite songs, also Mr. Pfeiffer for the efficient manner he conducted the funeral. Thos. Dean and Family. Nov. 28-11

Surgery in the Air.

Sitting astride a steel beam on the highest section of a new theater under construction a doctor recently chlored formed a structural ironworker, and snipped into place the bones of a dislocated shoulder. When the accident occurred the workman was left helpless, as both arms were disabled, and there was no means of descent except a series of ladders. The doctor removed his hat, coat and vest, and began the dangerous ascent. A workman followed with the doctor's surgical case. After the operation the workman was able to make his way down the ladder and was taken to his home.

Portsmouth Girls Take Notice

A Kelson girl who didn't have any long gloves wore a pair of brown stockings on her arms to a dance Friday night. Some of the other women noticed what she had on, but none of the men did. As the girl is a sociable leader, the wearing of stockings on the arms instead of gloves may become popular in Kelson.—Denver Post Correspondence.

A shark's teeth are said to be movable at will. If any shark ever gets his teeth in us, we hope he'll move them out as fast as he possibly can.

The Poor H islands

An Indiana bride talked at the "oh-ey" clause in the marriage contract and the ceremony is "off." The plan was she is thin and stunted. The big girls still go on promising so readily to obey undressed, plump-faced, rabbit toothed, fabled voiced husbands, whom they could outstride effectually with one sweep of the hand that wears the wedding ring.—Akron Beacon Journal.

We "Shore" Can't

Wm. Fischer shoo's sheep for Homer Stewart last Thursday. Six sheep were shoo'd that shore 60 pounds of wool. Can you beat that?—Liberty (Ohio) Press.

Chatter by Proxy

William Goldsberry of Lebanon called on Miss Edna Lower Sunday afternoon and brought his photograph along to take the talking.—Lebanon (O.) Democrat.

Great Town

The Virginia town that has been named Tingo is likely a fine little place to skip through on a trot.

An alarm clock never receives thanks for good service.

Locating the Tick

Baby Ruth, whose tumbled head nestled against the bosom of sister Helen, suddenly sat erect and called to her mother "Come here, quick, mama." "What is it?" I he mother called.

"You remember the watch?"

"Yes, dear."

Again resting a little ear against the sister's bosom where she could hear the heart beats, Ruth called excitedly: "I just bet Helen swallowed it."

Had—On What?—"Mrs. Sarah Hadden"—Card of Hayes, Pa., woman.

Forgot the Legs
The Lawrence, Kansas, scientist who paid $10,000 for a frog skull, might have doubled the price for a pair of legs.

Why, Indeed

A Sunday school teacher recently invited her little pupils to learn and recite a piece of poetry at one of the class meetings. The efforts were many and various, but one little man scored the bit of the program when he delivered, with great elocutionary fervor and with appropriate gestures, the following gem:

Little George Washington
Just so high,
He became president—
Why not I?

Fogs Increase the Use of Shingles

"I suppose you do not get very heavy fogs here," remarked the Londoner to a Chicago carpenter. "Well, it's this way. I was shingling a barn last summer and had seen enough shingles to cover both sides of the roof, as I had figured it out, and was thinking about crawling back to the ladder when the fog lifted and I dropped into the chicken. There I had gone and shingled about ten squares of that fog."

Powder Puff

What we never could understand is why a rabbit's foot is used to spread face powder, when its tail looks twice as much like a puff.

The Mexican who was "shot on the border" had a narrow escape.

Showing Symptoms

Teacher—Why isn't Mabel here this morning?
Millie—I think she has the faint and mouth disease.

"Gracious! What makes you think that?"
"She has a burn on her toe and a sore on her lip."

Speaking of Nuts

Mrs. Murphy had named her baby Hazel. Put objected. "With all the saints in the calendar, why do you name the little one after a nut?"

Contingent Results

Pat, a member of a railroad crew, was good at figures. The boss, thinking he would get ahead of Pat, asked, "How many shirts can you get out of a yard?" "That depends on whose yard ye get into," replied Pat.

Morgan To Represent

New York Federal Reserve Bank

J. P. MORGAN

New York, Nov. 28.—Financial interests in New York City have expressed satisfaction over the selection of J. P. Morgan to act as the representative of the local Federal Reserve Bank on the Federal Advisory Council, the body which is to advise periodically at Washington with the Federal Reserve Board. His term will be one year, as prescribed by law.

The Markets

New York, Nov. 28.—The New York stock exchange resumed operations in a tentative way today for the first time since July 30 last when the foreign situation, already tense, caused the cessation of business of all the leading financial markets of the world. Trading was restricted to bonds for which is all instances, minimum prices were established.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly.—If a young man gives a girl a box of candy, and she opens it in his presence, should she take a piece out, first, and then offer it to him, or should she offer it to him first?

KATHLEEN.

She should offer the candy to him first.

Dear Dolly.—Would you please tell me if it would be proper for a lady to go and meet her intended husband at his home?

ENGAGED GIRL.

After the engagement is announced it is perfectly proper for the young lady to visit the home of her fiancé and meet his people.

Dear Dolly Wise.—Please give me a remedy for preventing hair from falling out. My hair is very dry and rough.

RACHEL.

Falling hair is caused by an unhealthy scalp. The fact that your hair is dry and rough, showing that the oil glands are not working properly. Take white vasoline and rub into the roots of the hair, with the balls of the fingers, giving a rotary motion. Do not get the vasoline on the hair, any more than necessary, massage it every day and let it hang loose at night.

Dear Miss Wise.—How can I clean and stiffen a black felt hat?

GERTRUDE.

The best universal cleaner that I know of is equal parts of alcohol and ether, with a dash of ammonia in it. Even alcohol and ammonia might clean the hat. Paint the inside with diluted glue. Let dry in shape desired.

Dear Miss Wise.—Please tell me when the "Million Dollar Mystery" will be solved? Where to send your answers making out the last reel? And what were all of the questions to be answered? Thanking you for your trouble.

A READER.

Whenever some one is clever enough to solve it, I guess. Read the story and you will find out all about it. It is also shown every week in two of our local moving picture theatres. Inquire there.

SOCIETY

Honor and renewed allegiance to Ohio State University was paid by some twenty or more local O. S. U. graduates and students at the annual "Ohio State Banquet," held Friday evening at the F. L. Martin and Sons, Sunnyside. Scarlet and gray, the university colors, were worn in evidence in the decorating scheme, while the white tables were artistically arranged in the form of the letter "O."

The true college spirit was rampant among the guests throughout the evening, and many, and varied were the yams and tales related of the good old days when the graduates were enrolled as students at O. S. U. These were brought up to date by those present who are attending school at the present time. All the old college songs were sung with fervor, and the college yells were enthusiastically repeated. It was truly O. S. U. night, and an occasion that will long be remembered by those who were there.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Whitfield, local caterers, served the banquet, which was complete in every detail. The menu included: Rockhampton, a la Waldorf; pickles, olives, celery, roast turkey, class of 1914, "Co-Ed" oyster dressing, "domestic science" cranberry sauce, "engineering" salad, wafers, "campus" potatoes, "Oxley Hall" ice cream, "Old Union" cake, and coffee. Attractive place-cards were at each cover, while red carnations were given to each guest as favors.

Great disappointment was felt by all present over the inability of Prof. Karl Dale Swartzel to be present, but his place was ably filled by Prof. J. P. Gregg, of the English department of the O. S. U., who made an entertaining talk, which bristled with statements pleasing to the ears of the local alumni and students. Prof. Swartzel was detained at his home in Columbus on account of illness.

Prof. Gregg was introduced by Dr. O. D. Tatje, who officiated as toast-master. President William Oxley Thompson's annual message to the student body was read by Arnold Schapiro, local attorney. Dr. W. D. Tremper, the newly elected state senator from this district, was an honored guest and favored with a pleasing address. Local O. S. U. alumni students are assured that their alma mater will have a staunch friend in the next legislature in Dr. Tremper.

With the singing of the "Carmen Ohio" at a late hour, the enjoyable event came to a close, leaving no eager anticipation for the renewal of the occasion next year. Similar gatherings were held in every city and town in Ohio where O. S. U. alumni students reside, Friday evening.

The following were in attendance: Ralph Marling, Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Ridout, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Thomas, Philip Jacobs, Fred Thomas, Miss Terese Kennedy, Miss Laura Brown, Howard Frick, Earl King, Carl Hauck, Arnold Schapiro, Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Tremper, Prof. J. P. Gregg and Miss Ruth Jackson, of Chillicothe.

Partey Deane, who came here to attend the funeral of his mother, left for his home in St. Louis on Friday morning.

Miss Ruth Fairtrance was fourteen years old yesterday, and to celebrate the event her mother entertained a few of her young friends last evening at their home on Timmonds avenue. Various games were indulged in and piano music was rendered by Willard Monroe and Clara Marshall, after which Mrs. Fairtrance served delicious refreshments. The young hostess was the recipient of many pretty gifts in memory of the event. These present were: Pansy Flowers, Ruth Atlas, Myrtle Hall, Ruth Cranstom, Martha Wilson, Margaret Craig-miles, Edith Cundiff, Ruth Baker, Clara Marshall, Albert York, Willard Monroe, Donna Craigmiller, Varner Altman, Charles Baggis, George Wilson, Paul Newman, Norman Hyatt, Russell Robbins, Russell Rutledge.

Lee Harlow, of Cleveland, and Gaylord Stowe, of Cleveland, who are visiting Evan and Ellsworth Williams, will return Monday to their studies at the O. S. U., and will be accompanied by Ellsworth Williams.

Mr. E. H. Dillon, Judge E. B. Dillon, of Columbus, Mr. Charles Souder, Selby Dillon and Donald Dillon motored down to Adams County Mineral Springs Thursday afternoon and came back Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Jones and family, of West Alexandria, Pa., are visiting the former's father, J. D. Jones, of 1701 High street.

Miss Sarah McAfee will leave Monday for Athens, where she is a student in the Ohio University. She is completing her teacher's course at this university. She was the Thanksgiving guest of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. T. H. McAfee.

Prof. J. P. Gregg, of the English department of Ohio State University, who was the principal speaker at the Ohio State Day banquet Friday evening, was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Miller, of Robinson avenue, He returned to Columbus Saturday morning.

Mr. Fred Hasselman and Miss Leona Hasselman had as Thanksgiving dinner guests their sister, Mrs. Minnie Ellsesser, and two children, of Mount street, and Mrs. John Evans, of New Boston.

Sam Pastor and family, of Oak Hill, were the Thanksgiving Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Greenberg, of Market street.

Mrs. George R. Lockwood, of Fourth and Sinton streets, is visiting her daughter, Miss Helen Lockwood at Gallipolis, O.

The Central W. C. T. U. will meet next Tuesday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. J. J. Davidson, 1437 Fourth street.

The Progress Club will meet Monday evening at the home of Mrs. George Youngman, on Hutchins street.

Mrs. H. C. Bugh will sing a solo, "Just As I Am," Sunday morning in the Central Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Nathan Griffith, of Ripley, left today for her home after visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fauth, on Oakland avenue.

Mrs. James P. Brennan, of Second street, entertained her mother, Mrs. Johanna Burns, and sister, Mrs. Ella Blair, and daughter at Thanksgiving dinner.

Miss Alice Jackson, of Columbus, is visiting her sister, Mrs. William Mickel, corner of Monroe street and Robinson avenue.

Mrs. R. B. Cross and daughter, Margaret, are at home from Poughkeepsie, where they spent Thanksgiving with her mother, Mrs. Margaret Wilson.

Scioto county brides were claimed by two young men from after Saturday morning. Squire A. J. Finney officiating in each instance.

Jesse R. Stunt, a young carpenter of Greenfield, and Miss Ida Sheldon of Radnor, were the first couple united in marriage, and at the conclusion of the ceremony Squire Finney solemnized the marriage of Peter Koch, a young farmer living near Chillicothe, and Miss Verne Neff, of South Webster.

Albert Ploger, 25, and Nettie M. Jenkins, 22, both of Madison township, this county, were united in marriage by Squire John W. Byron at his office Saturday morning.

Miss Estelle B. Bush, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Bush, of Gallipolis, was married at high noon on Thanksgiving day to Mr. Colonel Campbell, of Logan, W. Va. Rev. Hugh Leon Evans performed the ceremony in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends of the happy couple.

Joe Schaefer, of Third street, spent Thanksgiving day with friends in Chillicothe.

Miss Margaret Otta has returned to her home at Springdale, Ky., after a visit to her sisters, Mrs. E. W. Kunkle, of Robinson avenue, and Mrs. S. M. Bradford, of Grandview avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fauth, of Oakland avenue, had as guests at Thanksgiving dinner, Mrs. Nathan Griffith, of Ripley, Mrs. Mary Boller and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bennett.

Mrs. E. D. Clark, of Mendville, Pa., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Carl Kugelmann.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Brokaw will entertain at dinner this evening Mr. and Mrs. Willard Gustin, Mr. and Mrs. Elson Toner and Mr. Ben Hudson.

Mrs. S. B. Shoemaker and Mrs. Stanley Kratzer left today for New York to visit relatives until after Christmas.

Mrs. John F. Brashart has gone to Welles, W. Va., to visit her daughter, Mrs. Hayden Bush.

Mrs. J. H. Steveringen and son, Frank, of Eighteenth street, were guests of relatives in St. Paul, Ky., over Thanksgiving.

Cecil Fanning, the famous American baritone singer, more than pleased his large audience last evening in the handsome new High School Auditorium, where his beautiful program of songs was presented to an audience of Portsmouth's best people, including several theatre parties. This fine program was a rare treat to the music-lovers of our city. He has a wonderful baritone voice, which has received careful training. Portsmouth was fortunate in securing Mr. Fanning for an engagement, under the auspices of the Ladies' Musical.

Miss Edna Marting, president of the Ladies' Musical, deserves great credit for the success of the entertainment to which all active and associate members were admitted free. The program of songs follows:

Prologue: "I Pagliacci," Leoncavallo.

Der Wanderer (Schmidt)—Schubert.

Wohin? (Mueller)..... Schubert.

Auftrag..... Schumann.

Die Lorelei (Heine)..... Liszt.

Der Erlkoenig (Goethe)..... Loebe.

Henry the Fowler..... Loewe.

Edward (Percy's) Reliques..... Loewe.

FOLK SONGS—

Le Petit Bois d'Amour.....

..... Old French.

Le Cycle du Vin..... Old French.

Dame Darden..... Old English.

No! John! No!..... Old English.

The Last Leaf (Oliver Wendell Holmes)..... Sidney Homer.

Smuggler's Song (Kipling).....

..... Marshall Kernochan.

Mummy's Song (Written for Mr. Fanning)..... Harriet Ware.

I Had a Dove (Adapted from Keats)..... Carl Busch.

The Mad Dog (Victor of Wakefield)..... Liza Lehmann.

The first number, "I Pagliacci," by Leoncavallo, a familiar prologue, was rendered in a dramatic manner. Responding to an enthusiastic encore, he gave "Ringing Up the Curtain" and a Russian Song, "The Song of India." The second number was a group of beautiful songs. The third, both selections from Loewe, presented in English, were heartily applauded and in response he sang "I Dream." The young singer's voice gave an impression of dramatic intelligence in the last number. In the group of Folk Songs two old French songs were followed by "Dame Darden" and "No! John! No!" and for an encore he gave an English love song, "Meet Me By Midnight Alone," by J. A. Wade.

The program ended with a group of songs which were rendered with as much ease and grace as those before. It was requested that Mr. Fanning sing Irish songs, but it was impossible for him to do so, as he did not have his music with him, and instead he recited "The Road in the Road." As the audience was leaving Mr. Fanning sang "At Night I Am So Thirsty," and the people departed for home feeling well paid, as the sweet singer did not hesitate to respond to the encores, as well as presenting his full program.

His only teacher and accompanist, Mr. Harry B. Turpin, comes in for his share of praise, as he explained the songs so clearly, as well as playing the accompaniment so well for his young pupil.

Mr. Fanning was brought up in Columbus, but has gained a great deal of fame in the East, where he has presented many programs, and it is safe to say this is one of the finest programs of music ever rendered in Portsmouth.

Mr. W. H. Hudson, of Fifth and Union streets, has gone to Blair, N.Y., where Mrs. Hudson and young son, Heron, have been spending several months.

Gilbert Fairtrance will leave home December 18th from Hiram College, near Cleveland, to spend his Christmas vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fairtrance, on Timmonds avenue.

Mrs. Frances McGolden recently entertained her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Ferman Smith and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Kinney, of Spokane, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fauth, of Oakland avenue, had as guests at Thanksgiving dinner, Mrs. Nathan Griffith, of Ripley, Mrs. Mary Boller and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bennett.

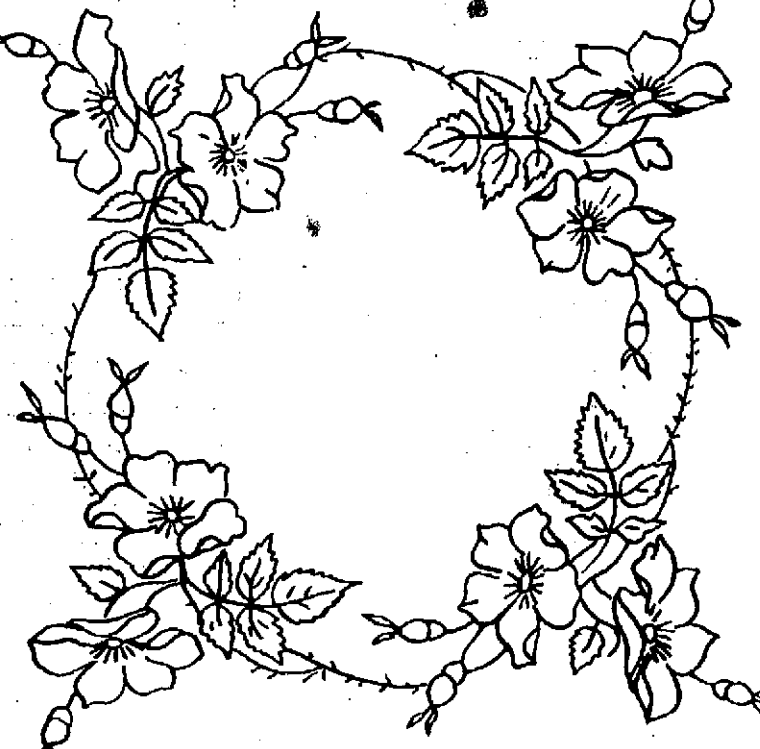

Mrs. E. D. Clark, of Mendville, Pa., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Carl Kugelmann.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Brokaw will entertain at dinner this evening Mr. and Mrs. Willard Gustin, Mr. and Mrs. Elson Toner and Mr. Ben Hudson.

In taking off these patterns, lay a piece of impression paper upon the material, place the newspaper pattern over this, and with a hard, sharp pencil draw firmly over each line. If the material is sheer it may be laid over the pattern and drawn off with pencil, as the design will show through.

No patterns of these designs are available.

Mrs. Sarah A. Thompson and daughter, Ella, of Maumand, O., entertained on Thanksgiving at their home the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Thompson and children, Harold and Pearl, and nephew, Willard Thompson, of Portsmouth, O.; Mrs. George Kanost and children, Lester, Clara and Andrew, of South Webster, O.; Mrs. Clara Addis and children, Murella, Lancelle, Edgar, Mildred, Gertrude and Myrtle, of Effort, O.; Miss Belle Collett and niece, Dorothy, Alice Collett, of Lyra, O.; Mr. Gordon Thompson, and Mr. Adam Queen, of Bloomer, Ohio. When the noon hour came the dining-table was groning beneath the load of dainties—turkey, pumpkin pie, cranberries, etc. The ideal weather added pleasure to the day.

The elementary teachers in the high school building were treated to a fruit shower by their pupils last Wednesday afternoon. The lucky teachers included Miss Charlotte Lewis, the principal, Miss Ella Kiefer and Mrs. Nannie Ridemour.

Mrs. J. O. Stultz, of West Union, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Albert Edgington, 831 Sixth street.

Mrs. H. C. Lantz, who has been visiting relatives at Athens and Coolville, will return home Monday evening.

Miss Pearl Ridgish, of Scioto, is a guest at the home of Misses Goldie and Gladys Lantz, to spend the holidays.

The S. M. S. club was delightfully entertained at the home of Miss Mary Blair, of Fifth street, last night. The hostess, aided by her mother, served dainty refreshments. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Dorothy Huag, of Washington street.

Herman Wessel, a prominent manufacturer of Cincinnati, and wife were the Thanksgiving Day guests of F. C. Bucher and family, of Elgin street.

Wheelerburg, Ohio, Nov. 28.—The supper which was given by the Baptist Ladies' Aid Society of Wheelerburg last Friday evening was a grand success. A large crowd attended and all report a good time. Eric Duhait and Bertha Ach, of this place, surprised their many friends by slipping away Thanksgiving and were married.

Mr. and Mrs. Strother, of Portsmouth, are spending the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. McClure, of this place.

Miss Ella Kinnison expects to leave soon for an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. Charles Gishner and other relatives in Columbus, Ohio.

Miss Edna Ruigel, of this place, is able to be out again after being shut in for a few weeks with a sprained ankle.

Mrs. Ed Hudson spent her Thanksgiving with her mother, Mrs. Duncann, of Powellsville.

The revival which is being held by Rev. Munsey, of Lick Run, is a success, as they have twelve converts already.

We understand we are to lose our old barber, as he will soon leave in Sciotoville, Ohio. Sorry to see you go, Pete.

Burglars visited the home of Prof. McGowan on Thanksgiving night.

Martha, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delchar, is able to be out again after a severe attack of typhoid fever.

DISPOSITION OF ASSETS OF SHOE WORKERS UNION STIRS UP A BIG RUMPUS

Quite a sensation has been created in the ranks of members and former members of the United Shoe Workers of America over the report that Treasurer Frank Sly, 935 Front street, has appropriated $200, or the entire funds of Local No. 9, U. S. W. of A., to his own use, an accusation that Sly freely admits, claiming that the money, which he says was divided equally with Henry Ribble, former business agent, was drawn out on November 17.

It was not known until last Wednesday that Sly had drawn the money, and a meeting was held that evening at the office of William Abrahams, the German tailor, where Sly freely admitted the charge and stated that he was willing to be tried before any court or magistrate on the charge of the misappropriation of funds. He defended his actions on the ground that inasmuch as the organization had become defunct, that he had as much right to the money as anyone else.

At the meeting held Wednesday evening, Porter Dean, national organizer of the U. S. W. of A., was present, having been sent here to investigate the condition of the local, which according to Sly, ceased to exist when the membership fell below a certain number, which, according to one of the members of joint council, is 9. When the organization fell below this number, then the national headquarters called in the charter, together with all the books of the organization.

At the meeting, Wednesday evening, Sly's alleged shortage was thoroughly discussed, and as before stated, he admitted the charge, but denied the authority of any of the former members to prosecute him, maintaining that he got his part of the assets of the organization while the $200 remained. Sly insists that a thorough investigation of the financial business of the organization will startle some people and will bring some matters to the surface that will place certain parties in their right light. He says he is honest in his contention that he had a right to the money, which he says was used to pay debts that he had contracted since the strike, maintaining that he had had but three weeks work since the shoe strike was declared.

At the meeting Wednesday evening the following communication was written and sent to The Times Friday evening:

Portsmouth, O., Nov. 27, 1914.

At a meeting of the United Shoe Workers of America called by General Organizer Porter Dean, on November 25, Frank Sly admitted to having defrauded the organization out of $200 and to having divided this money up with Henry Ribble. This money had been deposited with Mr. Jacobs, the Eleventh street butcher, as a bond during the recent shoe strike. As yet no legal steps have been taken, as Mr. Dean is waiting on orders from the national office of his organization.

CLAUDE L. RACHFORD.

915 Eighth St., Portsmouth, O.

The meeting was attended by Treasurer Sly, Sylvia Stahl, Mrs. Joseph Barber, Edward Friend, William Petry, William Abrahams, and the national organizer, Porter Dean. At the conclusion of the meeting, Mr. Dean stated that no action against Sly could be taken until official word had been received from national headquarters. In some quarters it is expressed that no prosecution is contemplated, while from other sources it is claimed that criminal action will be instituted.

However, it all depends upon the decision of national headquarters. In some quarters it is expressed Sly was seen at his home on Front street, Saturday morning, and stated that while he admitted to drawing out the $200, that he was surprised to learn his actions had become public property, in that all persons present at the Wednesday night meeting had faithfully agreed to keep the news of his alleged shortage secret, until definite word had been received from headquarters.

He was quite bitter in his denunciation of certain persons, who, he said, were at the bottom of the whole affair in order to cover up certain acts of their own that would not stand the light of investigation. Sly freely admitted taking the money. He said: "As treasurer of joint council No. 9, U. S. W. of A., I deposited $200 with George Jacobs, Eleventh street butcher, as bond for Henry Joylin, one of our members, who was arrested during the strike, charged with contempt. Recently I learned that William J. Casey, whose right name is McNamara, had been installed as business agent for joint council No. 9, in the place of Henry Ribble, when the latter suffered the fracture of one of his legs and was unable to attend to his duties. I was one of the most active members of the council and after the organization gave up its room in the Horr building, I helped remove the furniture and fixtures to the Abrahams tailor shop. At that time I learned that three of the big gas are lights belonging to the organization together with all the blinds had been dismantled and sold. This excited my suspicions and I began a quiet investigation. On September 28, I learned that I had been suspended for the non-payment of dues, whereupon I paid up my arrears to Business Agent Casey, who left the city four weeks ago. I later learned that Casey had never sent in my money. Then word came to me that instead of there being 200 members in good standing, as claimed by Casey, that all but three persons, William Casey, Jack Rice and William Montell, had been suspended for the non-payment of dues. It then dawned upon me that something was radically wrong and thereupon I drew out the $200, split even with Ribble and paid my dues."

Continuing, Sly said: "I court a full and free investigation into the financial affairs of the council, and am not the least bit worried over the outcome. I took the money while I had the chance and believe that my actions as well as my motives were honest. I have no fear as to the outcome."

R. Eichenlaub Star Fullback, Is Known Here

RAYMOND EICHENLAUB
NOTRE DAMES FAMOUS FULLBACK.

The above is a likeness of Raymond Eichenlaub, noted football player at Notre Dame, and a nephew of George Goodman of this city. Eichenlaub played his last college football Thanksgiving Day against the Syracuse team on the latter's ground and distinguished himself as one of the greatest gridiron battlers of this or any other year. He is regarded by many experts as the All-American full back, and no less a person than Walter Camp states that his superior has never lived.

Mr. Eichenlaub is a gentlemanly sort of a fellow, big of brain and strong of brawn. He has often visited in Portsmouth and his uncle, Mr. Goodman, is anticipating a holiday visit from the fine looking fellow who is as modest as a child, but who in the parlance of the sporting fraternity, "some football player."

MOTHER GETS CHILDREN

Probate Judge Beatty decided that the complaint of Mrs. Lulu Dowdy relative to the lack of care of her three children was well taken and gave her the custody of them. They have been making their home with their father, Philip B. Dawd, of Seintoville. He was ordered to pay $4 a week toward their support.

New Loan Company Will Open Up Office

The Honor Loan and Investment company, whose name was selected by Miss Lola Gifford, will soon open an office in the First National bank building. Judge Blair, who is at the head of the company, stated Saturday that the company would be ready for business in the near future. Miss Gifford is Attorney Blair and Kimble's efficient stenographer.

LARGE CLASS TO BE TAKEN IN MOOSE HERD ON SUNDAY

E. E. WASHABAUGH,
National Director of the Moose,
Who Will Attend the Large Class Initiation Tomorrow.

On tomorrow afternoon Sunday November 29, The Loyal Order of Moose will hold another large class initiation, the last big class until February 16, 1915.

They are expecting at least 50 in the class. Mr. E. E. Washabaugh the National Director in charge has been very successful in this immediate vicinity.

This great and growing order has grown to over 700 members in Portsmouth in less than two years and speaks for itself. The grandest feature of the organization is the home they are building at Mooschart, Ill. It is impossible to tell what the institution is and what it is to do.

Initiatory exercises will start promptly at 2:00 p. m. The local ritual team will go to fronton in the near future to initiate a large class there.

PETE SCHILLING BACK FROM "WILD WEST"

Encased in a fur lined coat and looking unusually well, Pete Schilling, arrived in the city Friday evening from Denver, and will probably spend the greater part of December in the River City.

Mr. Schilling was kept busy renewing acquaintances Saturday and all of Pete's friends were curiously glad to see him. He left Portsmouth four years ago and has spent most of his time in and around Denver.

On his way home he looked up Joe Neal in Chicago and they dined together and talked over everything with a Portsmouth flavor attached to it.

Pete was a real ranchman for a while, but had to give up the cowboy life as he could not stick on the branches, according to Pete's own admissions Saturday when he was circled by friends.

Directors Elected By Masonic Club

Members of the Masonic Club held their annual election Friday evening at the club rooms in the Masonic Temple, selecting D. A. Grimes, William F. Zottman, Harry Johnson, John Ives, L. W. Bragdon, Henry Scott, W. R. Sprague, W. E. Clayton and William Hoss as the board of directors for the coming year. The directors organized immediately by electing D. A. Grimes, president and George W. Zottman secretary.

The Club is in a prosperous condition, and increases in membership every year.

Norway Takes A Fall Out Of Old J. Barleycorn

Another Nation Rules Liquor Out of Both Navy and Army

Norway has followed the lead of the United States and kicked old John Barleycorn not only out of the Navy, but the Army as well.

Norway has been interested in the results of Emperor William's assault on alcohol as the destroyer of military and naval efficiency. Russia, too, is waking up to what the world has known a long while—that it was alcohol quite as much as Japan that encompassed that overwhelming defeat of the czar's forces.

Alcohol never helped the man who uses it make or save a dollar. The greatest foe of business efficiency. Men of brains everywhere are joining in the campaign for greater efficiency. The drinking man is putting a barrier between himself and success. It doesn't pay nowadays to take "the chance" for the occasional drinker so alcohol becomes the habitual bonzer land.

LOCAL GERMAN'S VIEW OF THE WAR

By Major Lewis F. Korth, Former Editor of The Correspondent

Friday, November 27, 1914.

There has been little change on the Flanders front this week. The Germans have driven off the attacks of British shallow draft warships on the coast and report the usual "progress at Arras," the Allies claim that they have retaken Dixmude, today only a smoking village, and both talk of new moves on a large scale. An increased activity in the German lines, especially around Ypres and Armentieres, point to "something doing."

Heavy fighting is reported south of Dixmude. In the East the big battle all along the 400-mile line from the Baltic through Prussia, Western Poland, the Vistula and Wartha valleys and Western Galicia to the Carpathian Mountains, is still going on, but the reports about it are unsatisfactory. The professional New York-Petrograd news fakir was off for Thanksgiving and a poor substitute overfaked it by annihilating at one stroke two German army corps, taking 80,000 prisoners and driving the whole German-Austrian army back to the frontier.

As the German-Austrian army, comprising 40 corps, against 56 Russian, operates in five different bodies and directions, although in conjunction under one general directive, it is difficult to follow all the phases of the campaign by the meagre news we get. A semi-official statement from Berlin under date November 26, says: "German progress is reported on both east and west battle fronts," which was preceded by a report from the same source, November 25, "that in Prussia all Russian attacks had been repulsed. In the counter offensive of the Russians from Lodz, near Lodz (where they were to have won their great victory) they failed. At Czestochow all Russian attempts also broke down." Vienna tells us that the Austrians are steadily advancing to Welbrom and Pilica and the Germans north of Cracow, both co-operating successfully. Berlin says under date November 26, "It is officially announced in Vienna that 29,000 prisoners have been taken in this battle. And on Nov. 25 a Vienna report said, 'In the battle between Czestochow and Cracow, where Germans and Austrians fought together shoulder by shoulder, the Russians were steadily forced back and the Austrians made 15,000 prisoners in one day—Cossack detachments forced the Unger and Zemplin passes of the Carpathian mountains into Hungary again, but were driven back out of the first.'"

Berlin says that General Mackensen repulsed the first and second Russian armies at Lodz and Lowicz and took 40,000 wounded prisoners and a large number of guns. Up to date the battle was yet undecided.

By wireless the report comes from Milan (Italy) that the Turks in Egypt have defeated the British troops again (after El Kantara) and have taken possession of the east end of the Suez Canal, the Egyptian canal guard going over to them. Berlin confirms the report and says it counts for more than a victory in Poland or Flanders. The Turks will not destroy the locks, they will keep the canal open for traffic, but hardly for English warships and troop transports.

A former report of a rising of Arab tribes in Morocco is verified by news from Madrid that in a fight at Khentifa the French troops were defeated with a loss of 623 men and two batteries. Madrid is convinced that France will lose Algeria, Tunis and Morocco if it is not prepared for a long Colonial war.

Persian mountain tribes have entered Russo-Persian territory. They killed 2,000 of the Russian garrison at Tabriz (Turris) the capital of Azerbaijan. A Berlin report that the Khedive of Egypt has revolted against English rule in his dominions and has entered Damascus with the Turkish army, said to be 300,000 strong, is confirmed by the Paris Temps.

In the Caucasus Iranian soldiers, German, has defeated the Russians on his march to Batum and on the Chuker river.

The big British battleship "Butterworth" was blown up off Sheerness, only about 20 miles from London, on Thursday last, and nearly 800 men went down with her. How it happened is a mystery. The Admiralty thinks by an accidental explosion. London says "The disaster is the most appalling in this war." So far the British navy has lost 14 big ships and 7,343 men in this war.

German marine authorities claim that the English super-dreadnaught "Audacious", which went down on the Irish north coast last month, was torpedoed by a submarine, which hit the big ship astern, then went under water and, coming up again, exploded the magazine of the "Audacious."

Sir Ernest Cassel and Sir Edgar Speyer, financial advisers to the British government, have been ousted from the privy council, as London reports. They were Germans, the same as the Duke of Battenberg, second Lord of Admiralty, who had to step out after the incident at Larvessett, although his brother, the younger Battenberg, gave his life on the battlefield for England's honor. Both are German by birth, but naturalized English citizens.

The Nihilists are at work again in Russia. In Petersburg the police broke up one of their secret meetings and arrested a number, among them several members of the Duma.

The statement has been made by a responsible authority that the Allies force now in the field are as five to three of the Germans. This goes to prove that efficiency is worth more than mere numbers. What Germany has done so far is an astounding triumph of brain power. Of the Franco-Prussian war it was said that the German school-master had won it. In the present war the mathematician, the chemist, the technician and last, but not least, the mediums are the winners.

Japan is not satisfied with Tsingtau. According to the Japanese Wrenga in Petersburg the Japanese ambassador in Peking has demanded a concession for the construction of a railroad from Tsingtau to the Yangtse Valley, and more to come!

According to the declaration in parliament by Sir Asquith, the British army up to October 31, had lost 57,000 men.

Paris advises say, that a coal famine exists in the city. The mining districts in Northern France are in German possession and the coal supply is cut off. The principal sufferers are the poor and the wounded soldiers who are crowded together in churches and public buildings that can't be adequately heated.

The gold reserve of the Reichsbank in Berlin is steadily increasing, instead of diminishing. Vienna papers say that nearly all money is back in circulation, and a reduction of the interest rate by the Austro-Hungarian bank has made it possible to obtain loans advantageously.

In England as well as France the shoe factories are not able to furnish full supplies for army and navy. Large contracts for military boots and shoes have been made with New England factories.

The public debts of the warring nations are: France 5,900 million, Russia, 4,500 million, Great Britain 3,670 million, Germany 1,000 million dollars.

All interests relating to the war have been pooled by Germany and Austria. One gives to the other what can be spared. Following the advice of the Prussian minister of agriculture that as much land as possible be given over to the raising of winter cereals the Austrian and Hungarian governments have done likewise. Austria in Bohemia and Moravia the stand of winter wheat and rye is exceptionally good. The price of breadstuffs remains normal in Germany and Austria.

Advices from Harbin, Manchuria, say that over 8,000 Austrian prisoners are working on road and river improvements in that far off Asiatic province of Russia. Their condition is wretched. Germany is looking forward already to laying in food supplies after the next harvest. The Prussian government has established a maximum price for foodstuffs. "We must prepare in time," as the war may last beyond next harvest, not figure on it alone, but have the same amount of supplies as we had at the beginning of the previous harvest."

Every one of hundreds of floating mines which have drifted to the shores of Holland has been found to be of English make. The German mines are anchored along the coast. This is what the Amsterdam papers say.

The exportation to neutral countries of German goods has been resumed. Germany ships and receives goods through Holland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Italy the same as before the war.

In a letter to Il Secolo, of Milan, the famous German dramatist Hermann Sudermann, writes, "My heart bleeds when I think of the awful cruelties committed by the Russian soldiery in East Prussia, my native land. In this extreme corner of Prussia not a single person conceived the idea of shooting at the invaders, as they did in Belgium, and yet cities, villages, estates, factories in an area of many hundred miles have been transformed into smoking ruins. Tens of thousands have fled." From Eastern Galicia and Bukovina we hear the same stories.

The great Swedish Thibet explorer, Dr. Sven Hedin, a favorite of the German emperor, has been visiting him in the field and found him in excellent physical and mental condition, notwithstanding he is working eighteen hours a day. He makes daily visits to the camps and always has a cheerful word for his comrades in arms. The composer Pierre Maurice, who took a look at the prisoners' barracks in Munich, was impressed with the good conditions he found there. He says in a communication to a Geneva paper, that the prisoners, mostly French and Belgians, are well housed and fed and present a respectable appearance in their clothes furnished to them.

General von Buelow, the victor of Namur, has been shot through the leg. His wife, formerly a Mrs. Bryce Turnbull, of Philadelphia, is nursing him at the military hospital in Mans. General von Hansen, who like Buelow figured conspicuously in the French-Belgian campaign, is on leave of absence on account of shattered health. Both are over 65 years old and veterans of the Franco-Prussian war.

The United States Army and Navy Journal says of Emperor William "The notion is prevailing in this country that the Kaiser is after military glory as Napoleon was, but a grey haired grandfather, who is older now than Napoleon was at the time of his death, does not hanker after war and laurels. If he did he had a better chance when Russia was at war with Japan. He could have crushed her easily then, even without the help of Austria, for England would have held France in check. Then he was ten years younger than he is now. Germany is with her emperor. She could not evade the war without losing honor and prestige among the nations, because her word and allegiance was pledged to Austria."

Truth like murder will out. When Chancellor Lloyd George submitted his stunning war budget in the English parliament a few days ago and observed the fear-stricken faces of the members, who are evidently worried how Great Britain shall be able to carry the immense burden of debt and finance her allies besides, what she eventually will have to do, he let the cat out of the bag by telling the house that after the conclusion of the war England would have a monopoly of the world's carrying trade, and the large income from that source would supply the means to defray the interest charge and to assure the gradual extinction of the debt. England wants the monopoly of the world's trade and shipping and no rivals. That is the true reason why she jumped into the war. Lloyd George generously admitted that the United States should have a share, but where is our shipping to come from, if we have no ships. In 1812 we had it and defended it against British aggression, since the civil war, when England robbed us of it after all, we stand in the last rank.

The so-called present method of trench and field fortress fighting, we read so much about in the London war talk in contrast to the old rapid field operations is nothing new, and not original either. The Allies as well as the Germans have to thank the American soldier for it, who invented it and employed it during the latter stages of the civil war, especially in Grant and Lee's campaigns in Virginia. Every veteran of that time knows how he had to dig for shelter in covering ground and how after the advance that tender life behind him grew into a fortification for possible retreat and defense. The system has been perfected in a degree nobody dreamt of fifty years ago, but rudimentary it is American.

"Far from wanting war, Germany did not even expect it." This is the statement made by Dr. Thomas C. Hall, of the Union Theological Seminary and Columbia University, who has just returned from Germany, where he generally spends his vacation time for study. "I know Germany in all classes, and I do not know, even among its officers, one who wanted war, knowing what it meant with the condition of seven against one. This talk of downing German militarism is a subterfuge to hide deeper purposes. German militarism and the German people in arms, ready to fight for existence even against tremendous odds, are synonymous notions. Whoever wants to wipe out the one must also crush the other," says Dr. Hall.

It was wished by some and feared by more that Alsace, Cesars Germania Prima, which was torn from Germany in the 17th century and reunited with it in 1871, would stand aloof in the present war, and when the French crossed the Vosges in August last they counted upon a rising of the people. But nothing like it has occurred. Alsace is loyal to the core, and every one of her sons has stood by his colors. The people of Upper Alsace have had their share of the horrors of invasion and do not want to see any more Turcos and Zouaves. The Alsatian papers are a unit in the expression of this sentiment of the people.

"Home of Character", No. 221

A Brick and Stucco Home.—By John Henry Newson.

In this design the first story is carried out in rough brick, and the second story in stucco on metal lath. The general design conforms to the prevailing bungalow type with none of the extreme features usually associated with the bungalow design.

The first floor plan is unique in that a little hall or passageway is provided between the living room and dining room, thereby making room for a first floor toilet room and a coat closet. The living room extends across the entire front of the house and a serving pantry is provided between the kitchen and dining room. Combination stairs lead to the second floor and the basement is reached from the kitchen by a grade entrance underneath the main stairs. The second floor contains bedrooms with ample closets, large bathroom with linen closet and a clothes chute to the basement.

This design could be built in most sections for about $4500. Built under most expensive conditions in a large city the cost ran slightly under $5,000.

No. 221—Size 26½x32½ feet. Price of plans $20. Price of specifications $2.50.

Mr. Newson answers all inquiries without charge. Address your letter to "John Henry Newson, Homes of Character Dept., The Times."

BAILEY POST ENDORSES 3 COMRADES FOR AIDS

Bailey Post, G. A. R., held a business meeting last evening at which there was a fair attendance of comrades.

Preparations were made for the usual Memorial day services on Sunday, Dec. 13, by appointing Comrades J. J. Davidson, W. H. Williams and A. J. Pinney as a special committee to make arrangements for the service.

The Post also gave its endorsement and recommendation to Comrade George D. Selby for appointment as Aidecamp on the staff of the National commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, and similar recommendations were made to Comrades W. H. H. Montgomery and F. W. Smith, for aids on the staff of the State Department Commander.

Bailey Post is one of the most enthusiastic organizations in the city and the old boys, notwithstanding

District Organizer Visits Maccabees

District Organizer John Woodbury, of Cincinnati, made a splendid address at the regular meeting of the Knights of the Maccabees Friday evening. He dwelt particularly upon the protection that is afforded the widows and orphans by the lodge. He was followed by District Organizer, Cox of Lancaster, who also made an interesting talk on the fraternalism of the order.

Over fifty members were present at the meeting. Twelve applications were acted upon, favorably, and there will be a class of twenty candidates for the first degree at the next meeting. On the first meeting night of the new year, the Ladies of the Maccabees and the Sir Knights will serve a joint banquet. Geo. H. Scott, Great Record Keeper, and E. F. Swartz, Supreme Representative, will be present and will deliver addresses. Election of officers will be held on the evening of December 11th.

District Organizer Cox will go to Washington C. H. next Monday morning to organize a class.

"BEHIND THE SCENES" WITH MARY PICKFORD AT THE COLUMBIA, TUESDAY

The Movies

Good Things at the Columbia Next Week

If you will notice the Columbia ad in this paper, you will find the program for next week at this popular theatre to be one of much more than usual merit for an entire week, the selections for each day include some of the very best two and three reel pictures on the market, including Pathé's Weekly as an extra attraction for Monday and the Hearst-Selig pictorial weekly for Friday, both of which have many interesting pictures of the great war now raging in Europe.

You will also notice that the regular Paramount day is changed this week, from Friday to Tuesday, on which day, you will have an opportunity to see Mary Pickford in one of the very best of all her wonderful pictures. It is entitled "Behind the Scenes" and is a most interesting story of stage life, in which "Little Mary" has an opportunity to be seen at her very best.

Don't forget the Columbia next week, as you will find a good, enjoyable program there any night during the entire week.

At The Exhibit.

The Battling British is the subject of a great war picture that is being shown at the Exhibit tonight. It is told in three parts and is on a par with the regular Saturday features of the Exhibit. In addition to this the program is supplemented with another excellent picture.

For many weeks to come the Exhibit has a good picture in store for its patrons. Indeed the great detective story has been looked. It will make its debut at this moving picture house Tuesday. Watch for it and then see it.

At The Temple Theatre

The patrons of the Temple Theatre are assured of a grand treat tonight. Not only will that great feature, "The Perils of Pauline," be shown, but Manager Smith has employed the Columbus Male Quartet, who will render several selections. This quartet has been filling an engagement at the Keith theatre in Cincinnati, and having an open date agreed to fill in at the Temple theatre tonight. This feature should result in the Temple being crowded tonight for they are singers of note and put on some great songs. Don't fail to hear them tonight only. Manager Smith has made a master stroke in securing their services and patrons can rest assured of a splendid evening's entertainment at the Temple tonight.

THEATRICAL

The Sun

Beginning matinee Monday the De Vere Stock company will be the attraction for the first half of the week, producing high class comedy plays. Miss Vera De Vere, the leading little actress and her talented company of ladies and gentlemen will present for their evening bill, "The American Girl," a comedy in three acts, in

Mayor Gets Behind Overhead Crossing

The mayor has decided to make a determined effort to push the overhead crossing project in the East End now that everybody has had ample time to voice opposition. The ordinance will be up for its second reading at the meeting Wednesday night and such citizens and taxpayers as might be against the plan will be given an opportunity to be heard.

The mayor has notified the attorneys of the N. & W. that the ordinance will be ready for its second reading and the next two weeks should see the project settled one way or the other.

RED MEN NOMINATE

Seneca Tribe, Improved Order of Red Men, held nominations of officers Friday night.

Lewis Nagel, Thomas Whitt and William Dahler, were nominated for sachem; Joseph Newman and Cecil Calvert for senior sagamore; Henderson, Cattle and Charles Hester for junior sagamore.

more; John Reag, chief of records; Charles Hester, keeper of wampum; John Richter, collector of wampum; Thomas Whitt, Jasper Newman, and Henderson Cattle, trustee; John Richter, representative; Charles Hester, alternate. The tribe will hold a big social session Sunday, December 6.

GIRLS' STATEMENT

Sally Yates and her "Light Haired" friend, mentioned in a police court item in yesterday's Times, say that they were in no way connected with the trouble at "Cook's Ranch," on John street, and while they have visited the place in the past were never in any trouble, and can't see why they were mentioned. They say they used to live in the Morrow flats, but always behaved themselves, and have never had even a speaking acquaintance with the police.

TERMINALS

Santa Claus Comes To Anderson Bros.; Tots Mighty Happy

With fluttering hearts and full of expectancy, several hundred happy-faced children virtually surrounded Anderson Bros.' big department store Saturday morning and awaited the coming of benignant old Santa Claus.

And they were not disappointed, as toy-laden Kris Kingle, so dear to the hearts of the little folk, soon made his triumphant entry diked out in the proverbial red uniform and wearing the familiar flowing white beard.

Following his way through the mass of children, Kris Kingle finally reached the fire escape on the Third street side, and mounting it, he soon began to toss out presents to the beaming kiddies, who yelled to their heart's content. And they came from all sections of the city for Anderson's toy opening is always a big event in kid land in Portsmouth.

Old Kris soon emptied a washbasket of presents. First it was a little bed he would hurl into the throng, then it would be a horn, a little chair, an engine, a rattle-box, etc. Practically everybody got a present and the opening was more of a success than usual. The crowd was so large that it extended across the car tracks and delayed street car traffic for a few minutes.

Not Altogether Unselfish. Husband (newly married)—"Don't you think, love, if I smoke it would spoil the curtains?" Wife—"Ah! you are really the most unselfish and thoughtful husband in the world; certainly it would." Husband—"Well, then, take the curtains down."

SOCIAL NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Simpson, of Seventh street, entertained at dinner Thanksgiving Day Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stockham, of Waller street.

Mrs. Roy Weaver and two children, of Barden, spent Thanksgiving at her mother's, Mrs. Elizabeth McCann, of Fourth street.

Miss Gladys Evans, who had planned to entertain the Reading Club next Monday evening, has postponed the meeting until Monday evening, December 7th, on account of recent illness in Mrs. Lucien Doty's family.

Mrs. Albert Marting's pretty home on Eighth street was the scene of a charming party today, when Mrs. Marting entertained informally Miss Persis Purcell's relatives and most intimate friends with an all-day affair. Luncheon was served at twelve o'clock at a table prettily adorned for the occasion in cupids dressed as brides, grooms and bridesmaids. Among the guests were Mrs. Walter Marting and Mrs. Otto Marting, of Ironton, and Miss Edna Marting's guest, Miss Marie Kuehnemister, of Cincinnati. After luncheon the afternoon hours were whiled away with fancy-work and music.

Miss Evelyn Reed, who is attending school at Highland Hall, Hallsburg, Pa., will come home December 18th for her holiday vacation. Miss Reed took part in a pretty entertainment at their school on Thanksgiving, in which there were eight of the girls who took part. Miss Reed was The Puritan in this enjoyable entertainment.

Mrs. Russell Newman and baby, Oscar, are here from Beckley, W. Va., to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Newman for two weeks.

The next meeting of the Art Circle will be a passing party at the home of Mrs. W. S. Walker, December the eleventh.

Miss Carrie Wilson is entertaining this evening with a family dinner at her pretty new home on Timmons avenue, when four generations will be represented. Covers will be laid for eighteen, her father, Mr. Robert Wilson, and brother, Mr. J. Wilson, of Williamson; another brother, S. G. Wilson, of Kenova, and a niece, Miss Amy Gaffney, of Gaffney, S. C., were among the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kellison, of Fourth street, have as guests their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Stark and family, of Chillicothe, and Mrs. Kellison's sister, Mrs. J. D. Snyder, also of Chillicothe.

Dr. and Mrs. James L. Taylor and Miss Kate Crichton, of Wheelersburg, and Miss Mary Little, of Portsmouth, were guests at Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mackey, in Wheelersburg.

Miss Nellie Lecher, who has been spending the past three months at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Roy Lecher, in Baltimore, Md., will arrive home tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Jordan's theatre party to the Cecil Fanning resort last evening was followed by a dance at their handsome home, corner of Fourth and Court streets.

The delightful event was given for the pleasure of Miss Mary Anderson's guest, Miss Edith Carpenter, of Athens. The dancing was followed by a delicious three course luncheon served at a beautifully decorated table in colors of pink and white. In the party were Misses Lollie and Mary Anderson and guest, Edith Carpenter, Hazel Drew, Pauline Wilhelm and Gertrude Schmidt; Messrs. Bernard Morris, Lester Howard, John Wilhelm, Sheppard Johnson, Chalmers Davis and Dr. S. P. Foster.

The Kendall Avenue church will give the cantata "Santa Claus and Family," at their Christmas celebration.

Miss Carrie Wilson received a message today telling of the serious illness of her uncle, Mr. Rufus Tanner, at Coopers, South Carolina, who is ill with pneumonia.

Misses Marjorie and Emma Jenkins will return Monday to their studies at the O. W. U. after a short visit with home folks.

Mrs. Charles Winter's home on Eighth street, was the scene of a large family dinner Thanksgiving when the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Marting and family and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Marting and family of Ironton, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Marting and children, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Winter, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Winter, Miss Margaret Winter, Miss Mary Holt and Mr. Fred Winter.

Miss Mildred Pardon gave a pretty little party last evening complimentary to Miss Emma Jenkins, who is at home from the O. W. U. for her short Thanksgiving vacation. Music, dancing and getting along nicely.

Barnet Baff, Murdered Man, and His Wife

New York, Nov. 28.—Detectives investigating the murder of Barnet Baff, the independent poultry dealer, who was waging a bitter war upon the so-called "Poultry Trust," have confirmed the stories that Baff had frequently been threatened because of business rivalries. The authorities regard the assassination of Baff as a result of a conspiracy as daring and vain as that of the group of police officials and gamblers who brought about the death of Herman Rosenthal, for whose murder Police Lieutenant Becker and four gunmen were condemned to death. The two men who did the killing jumped into an automobile and were whisked away in much the same manner as the gunmen escaped after the murder of Rosenthal.

GRAPHIC DESCRIPTION OF WAR TIMES IN GERMANY IS CONTAINED IN LETTER

Mrs. Sophia Duvall, of Sixth and Findlay streets, is in receipt of an interesting letter from her brother-in-law, William Dauwell, of Freimersheim, Germany, telling of honors won by relatives in the present big war.

Mr. Dauwell writes that one of his sons-in-law was promoted to Wachtmeister besides being decorated with the iron cross, three horses having been killed under him during a recent fiercely fought battle, while another son-in-law was promoted to lieutenant for bravery in action.

Mr. Dauwell's son Rudolph was wounded and captured and is now a prisoner of war in Southern France. He was twice shot, one bullet lodging in his foot, the other in the fleshy part of the leg, while the third struck his toe. Letters from him tell of considerable mistreatment in the hospital the prisoners occupy.

Mr. Dauwell's other son Philip is with the Imperial army before Verdun and letters written by him tell of the persistent efforts of the French to break the German lines. He says the German soldiers are forced to spend whole days in trenches that are nine feet deep and then join in the night attacks against the enemy.

Mr. Dauwell's letter which was dated October 30, was in reply to one written by Mrs. Duvall, which was on the way four weeks and evidently had been delayed by censors. It states that from the village of Freimersheim alone there are 60 men in the field. The letter mentions many young acquaintances of Mrs. Duvall who have been terribly wounded in battle and describes conditions in her native home. The various inhabitants of the village are forced to provide accommodations for soldiers as they come and go and this often entails hardships. Provisions had run low at Freimersheim and supplies had to be mainly secured from Landau. Of late though there has been a noticeable improvement in this respect.

The greatest inconvenience has been caused by coal oil famine and those not fortunate enough to have electric lights are often forced to do without lights at night. The writer adds though that he and fellow villagers feel disinclined to complain when they stop to consider what their fellow countrymen in East Prussia are subjected to in their desperate efforts to stop the threatened invasion of the Russian borders.

The Boy Scout rally at Sciotoville last night was a grand success in every respect, being largely attended and full of interest. Promptly at 7 p. m. the Scouts assembled at their gymnasium in the basement of the M. E. parsonage. The meeting was in charge of Scout Master Melvin Bentley, Scout Commissioner M. H. P. Kinsey was present and gave the scouts an instructive talk on "Second Class" work.

At 8 p. m. a messenger appeared at the gym and after a whispered conversation with Scout Master Bentley, the Scouts were ordered to march double quick time to the residence of Mr. Robert Dever, where they were greeted by Mr. Dever, and ushered into the dining room where they found the table filled with all the good things of the season.

This splendid banquet was served by Mrs. Dever, assisted by Miss Ruth Belmont.

After the banquet came some very interesting and humorous actor-games, which were in charge of Rev. A. B. Johnson, pastor of the M. E. church. Then followed some fine demonstrations in Scout signaling and bandaging by Scout Howard Coriell. Scout Harold Dever then told of the big log cabin the Scouts were erecting in the vicinity of Wait's Station and invited 20 Portsmouth Scouts through Scout Commissioner Kinsey to assist them on Saturday, Dec. 5th. Mr. Kinsey assured them that he would have no trouble finding the 20 boys.

"Can't Reform Millionaire's Son, His Nature Hopelessly Warped"

Mrs. Kathryn Browne Decker

New York, Nov. 28.—Mrs. Henry Edward Decker, who before her marriage to the millionaire director of the Sheffield Farms-Shiawater-Decker Milk Company was Miss Kathryn Browne, well known on the stage, in suing her husband for a separation, says, "It's no use. A pampered son of a millionaire cannot be reformed by a wife. His nature is hopelessly warped before he reached the marrying age."

She alleges that Decker was insincerely jealous, that he recalled invitations she had sent out for a dinner, threatened to insult her friends, made a scene about an osteopath who was treating her, demanded the discharge of her physician because he was too young and attractive, and finally threatened to kill her. Mr. Decker says that his wife cost him $25,000 in three years.

NO REQUISITION PAPERS NEEDED

BY FREEWILL BAPTISTS

An enthusiastic session of the little Scioto Quarterly meeting of Freewill Baptists was held last Saturday and Sunday with the Bethesda church near Steeldale.

Seven churches were represented by letters and delegates, and four others were reported verbally. Four ministers were present taking part in the program. They were Rev. John W. Wynn, Evangelist, Rev. Freeman W. Chase, Rev. G. H. Greene and Rev. R. Musgrave.

On Saturday morning Rev. Wynn spoke on the condition and plans of the state evangelistic work of the Baptists. Saturday afternoon a business session occupied all the time. Rev. Chase was chosen moderator of the business meeting and an executive committee, to whom several important business matters were referred for settlement was appointed as follows: Rev. S. Maxwell of Waverly, Rev. Green Willis of Painesville and Mr. Frank Munford of Harrisonville. Saturday night Rev. Chase preached to a very appreciative audience on "The Voice Without and the Voice Within." Sunday morning after the Sunday School lesson, Rev. Greene conducted a short praise and social meeting. Following this Rev. Wynn preached on "The Promise of the Holy Spirit." The meeting was closed Sunday night with a sermon by Rev. Musgrave. Deep interest and enthusiasm and unity of spirit was manifest in all the sermons and meetings of this Quarterly Session. It was one of the best meetings of this kind held for several years. The next session will be held the third Saturday and following Sunday in February, 1915, with the Waits Baptist church near Steeldale.

Among other items of business transacted at this meeting Mr. Floyd S. Barrett was given a Senior Q. M. license to preach the gospel. Mr. Barrett is a member of the Waits church and is taking a theological course at Denison University, Granville, O.

MRS. CLARK EXPLAINS

Mrs. Myrtle Clark, of No. 332 Third street, says reports that she was harboring Harry Carter at her home do her an injustice. She is harboring his children but says she has a perfect right to do so as he is paying her for her trouble. Miss Mary Mitchell, who lives with Mrs. Clark, frankly admits keeping company with Harry Bliss but says innocently as they are unmarried no one has a right to interfere. She blames his niece, Mrs. Garnet Houston-McCane, for the police activity against them and declares that she is only jealous of her. Mrs. Clark is very indignant over the police officers' act in searching a door of her home a few nights ago.

NEW BUSINESS BLOCK WILL BE ERECTED AT ELEVENTH & WALLER

Jackson Cropper is receiving estimates for a fine three-story brick business block he expects to erect at the southeast corner of Eleventh and Waller streets and which will cost about $30,000.

Mr. Cropper said he might commence the erection of the building this winter and not later than the early spring. The present frame building on the site is so constructed that Mr. Cropper is deprived of the real use of half of the lot on the south and east sides, while the new structure, the dimensions of which will be 59x77 ft., will cover the whole space.

The ground floor rooms will be for business purposes while the two upper floors will contain modern flats.

Mr. Cropper also plans to erect a hotel building in the vicinity of Eleventh and Scott streets in the event the N. & W. builds a new passenger station in that locality and is reserving his lots there for that purpose.

Dragged By Engine

N. & W. Engineer J. C. Neff had a narrow escape from serious injury Friday afternoon at Buffalo Creek, W. V. Neff was engineer on Engine 1020 of N. & W. extra freight 1026-1020. Neff crawled under engine 1026 to disconnect the brake rigging and while at work the brake rigging pin came out, releasing the brakes and causing the engine to move. Neff was dragged 25 feet before Engineer W. R. Jewell of engine 1020 could bring the engine to a dead stop. He had two fingers mashed when the brakes were thrown on. A few minor bruises were all that he sustained. He was put on one of the engines and taken to Kenova where the company physician dressed the crushed digits. The engine was left at Williamson for inspection. Neff lives at 1310 Center street.

GIRL IS FOUND

Gustava Middaugh, the 11-year-old daughter of Everett Middaugh, a brickworker of No. 3 Glover street, who mysteriously disappeared Friday morning was located Friday evening. The child had become lost and was found wandering about the vicinity of the B. & O. S. W. yards by her grandfather, Jasper Gillen, of Jackson street.

WILL STUDY LAW

H. A. Marting, son of Frank L. Marting, has decided to take up the study of law and later on expects to distinguish himself in a legal way. He has matriculated at the famous Columbia University of New York City, and is now a full fledged disciple of Blue-stone.

Mr. Marting will arrive here to spend the holidays. He graduated from Yale last year. He took a general academic course at Yale.

Cupid Winged
Stanley Staten

Friends of Stanley Staten, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Staten, of 1115 Ninth street, and Miss Carrie R. Yeager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Yeager, of 1541 Ninth street, will be surprised to learn of their marriage, which took place at the office of Squire A. J. Finney early Friday evening. The utmost secrecy was maintained in carrying out the details of the happy event, but the news leaked out Saturday morning, and was later confirmed by Squire Finney, who has been pledged to secrecy.

Young Staten is employed at present at the plant of the Portsmouth Steel company, and enjoys a wide acquaintance about the city. His young bride before her marriage, was employed at a local shoe factory, is also deservedly popular among her friends, who will hasten to extend congratulations to the couple. For the present, they will make their home with the bride's parents.

FORMING "EX" CLUB

"Cotton" Gansley has launched a movement to organize a society of ex-police men and declares that it will pay both sick and death benefits. He favors Oscar Runk for the presidency of the club which is expected to have quite a large membership.

SATISFIED WITH WORK OF DRAVO COMPANY

Matters affecting the branch line of the Chesapeake and Ohio Northern Railway company from Portsmouth to Columbus were discussed in Cincinnati Friday evening by Henry T. Hannon of this city, President George W. Stovens of the C. & O., and President M. J. Caples of the Chesapeake and Ohio Northern.

According to Mr. Hannon, who returned to Portsmouth today, the officials are well pleased with the progress the Dravo Construction company is making on its contract to bridge the Ohio river at Scioto-ville. The firm has about eighty men on the job at present and expect to be increasing their force right along.

Finger Gashed

Howard Frick, son of Mayor Adam Frick, while engaged in a friendly wrestling match with his sister, Miss Kathleen Frick, Friday, gashed a finger on a pin which she had fastened in her waist, causing a very painful wound.

NEW BOSTON

A meeting of the water and light committee of council, consisting of Members Taylor, Harr and Harris, and the sewer committee, Members Essman, Wolfe, and Dixon, was called for Saturday morning in the council chamber, but Taylor and Essman failed to show up as did Mayor Davis. Engineer Sam Harper was present, and the two committees were to take up the matter of going ahead with the laying of sewers and the water line. The $50,000 sewer bonds and the $92,000 water bonds remain unsold, but a larger sale is expected next week. The council members are in favor of starting the work at once so that the work of paving the village can be started. Contractors are ready to bid on both jobs as soon as the money is forthcoming. It is planned to have the village streets paved in three years. It is not likely that the pipe will be laid before two years. Nothing definite was done Saturday but a social meeting will be held Monday evening.

The Board of Education met in regular monthly session Friday evening. Members John Noel and Tom York were absent. Superintendent S. D. Eckhart was present. A schedule of bills amounting to $569.04 was allowed. The board accepted a contract of the United Fuel and Gas company to supply the Oak street school and the Stanton avenue school with gas for heating purposes only, at a reduced rate. Gas for lights will be supplied at the regular domestic rate.

Tenant Officer Will L. Davis was hired for another month at the same salary. Since the basement of the Stanton avenue building has been supplied with sanitary drinking fountains, the school can boast that it ranks with any of the city schools.

Acceptance of plans for the addition to the Stanton avenue school will be taken up at the next meeting.

Miss Maud Huffman, of Ohio avenue, who had her right hand slightly burned several days ago, is getting along nicely.

Miss Ethel McCarty, Oak street school teacher, is spending the Thanksgiving holidays with her parents at Lucasville.

Marshal Will L. Davis has returned from a week's hunt in Kentucky but will not say what number of rabbits fell before his fire. The deputies did not receive their much looked for rabbits from their chief.

K. H. Taylor of Lakeside, spent Thanksgiving at the home of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor of East Rhodes avenue.

George Wolfe and James Wolfe of Columbus, are guests of Miss Mabel Hull of East Rhodes avenue.

Mrs. Victor Storer of West Rhodes avenue, has fully recovered from a recent attack of paralysis.

Miss Lucy McCormick, who is teaching school at Quincy, Ky., is spending the Thanksgiving holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McCormick of Greece street.

The regular services will be held at the Christian church Sunday. Sunday school at nine o'clock. There were 136 present in Sunday school last Sunday. The primary pupils have been encouraged to bring a new member Sunday and the goal has been set for 150. Communion services follow Sunday school. Evening preaching service at 7:30.

The New Boston Tigers received word Saturday that Ashland would be at Millbrook Sunday afternoon. They will give the Tigers a hard battle as both teams are evenly matched. Play will begin at 2:30.

Jesse Dayton, Rollie Dailey and Jack Meeks started on a day's hunt Saturday morning.

S. D. Eckhart, superintendent of the village schools, returned Friday from Jackson county, and reports game plentiful in that section. His dog, gun, and hunting togs are with friends in Jackson county and as Eckhart did not learn of the lifting of the quarantine until Friday afternoon he will have to go back to Jackson to get his hunting artillery, before he can shoot rabbits here.

Frank Cottle returned Friday evening with five rabbits to show for his day's tramp over the hills.

The Daughters of America held the regular meeting Friday evening. During the meeting word was received that the annual memorial services of the city camp of the Daughters of America would not be held Sunday as the services had been postponed one week. The local camp was to attend the memorial services in a body.

Mrs. Dalire and Audrey Phillips of Huntington, W. Va., spent Thanksgiving with their parents, Mrs. Randolph Smith of West Grove street.

New Shine Plant

Two foreigners are installing a shoe shining outfit in the room in the Play House building recently vacated by the Gus Tailoring company. They expect to be open for business Saturday evening.

Host's Bad Break.
High anchor has its crude personalities, if a story in one of the magazines is true. At a dinner given to the famous pianist, Liszt, his host, Count Ludolf, right in the middle of Liszt's most exquisite playing, "said in a loud voice, 'If anyone wishes to have a game of what, there are tables in the other room.'" Liszt, says the narrator, stopped short, but as no one moved he consented amiably to remain at the piano. The amount of wine that had been consumed by Liszt's host on this occasion is not stated.

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GRAY

Keep her locks youthful, dark, glossy and thick with common garden Sage and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. For so easily you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use tonic called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. You will also discover falling, druff is gone and hair has stopped itching. Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and look years younger.

ALL SAINTS CHURCH

Corner Fourth and Court Sts.

Rev. E. Almer Powell, Rector.

The First Sunday in Advent.

Holy Communion at 7:30 a. m.

Sunday school—Mr. Robert G. Bryan, lay superintendent, 9 a. m.

The superintendent hopes that all scholars and teachers will be present on time. Better five minutes early than one minute late. Connecting with tomorrow, a new series of carefully graded lessons will be introduced. There will be one subject of study for the whole school—"Patriarchs, Kings and Prophets." The lessons are most interesting. Come and secure your new lesson book.

The cost of introducing this system has been considerable and it is to be hoped that the use of this admirable system will result in an all-around improvement in the work of the school. Brotherhood. Bible Class for men, L. P. Huddeman president, meets under the leadership of the rector at 9 a. m. in his office. All men welcome, whether church members or not. Come and see us once, anyhow. We feel sure that you will come again.

All Saints' men are urged to join at once, if they have not already done so.

Morning prayer and sermon at 10:30 a. m. Subject, "Reasoning With God," a sermon on the first lesson.

Evening sermon at 7 p. m. Subject, "Salvation Through Endurance."

The church expects an increased measure of reverence and devotion from all its members during the solemn season of Advent, and you are asked to make a special effort to be present at all services. Please remember that All Saints' church is a church for all people. A comfortable seat and a hearty welcome await you.

Advent music throughout the day.

INTERNATIONAL BIBLE STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

Brady Hall, Co. Clay and Robinson

Meetings are held every Sunday in above hall. Morning service at 9:30 for a Berean Bible Study in "The Divine Plan of the Ages and the evening service is for a Berean Bible study in "The Time at Hand." These studies are especially interesting now, as they bring out many points touching on the disturbed condition throughout the world, especially in Europe. All are cordially invited to meet with us to study the scriptures touching these things. The great world's war now being enacted and spreading was foretold according to the scriptures by Pastor Russell in his great book, "The Battle of Armageddon," published about 35 years ago. This book can be secured through Wm. Bradley, 2031 Elymuth street, city.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Galla and Washington Streets

T. H. McAfee, Pastor

Bible school at 9 a. m. The pastor will teach the men's class. Every man is requested to be present. The class made a splendid showing last Sabbath. If the same effort is made this Sunday, there is no reason why there could not be a few more present. At 10:15 Dr. Pease, of Cincinnati, will speak, this being "Temperance Day" in the churches of the city.

Jr. B. Y. P. U. at 4 p. m.

Sr. B. Y. P. U. at 6:15.

At 7:15 the pastor will speak on Matt. 27:40. The text reads, "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken Me?" We believe this sermon will help you to get a new vision of the crucifixion. All are cordially invited.

MORRIS CHAPEL

There will be preaching at Morris Chapel at 2 p. m. Sunday by T. H. McAfee. This sermon is to take the place of the regular preaching which would have been the first Sunday in December.

BUTCHINS STREET BAPTIST

Sunday school at 9 a. m. A. H. Bock, superintendent.

Preaching at 10 a. m. by Rev. Wynn. In the evening, at 7 o'clock, Rev. J. Sanford, representing the Anti-Saloon League, will be with us.

On Monday evening, at 7 o'clock, there will be a meeting at the church, at which it is desired that every member of the church attend, as there is business of importance to be considered.

KENDALL AVENUE BAPTIST

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Lesson IX—Fourth Quarter, For Nov. 29, 1914

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Mark xv. 22-27.

Memory Verses, 25-27—Golden Text, Isa. liii. 4—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

We have seen our blessed Lord in the hands of the band who arrested Him; in the hands of the religious hypocrites called chief priests and scribes and elders; in the hands of the Roman governor, who chose to please the people rather than do what he knew to be right, and now He is in the hands of the soldiers whose orders are to kill Him. They crucified the Lord of Glory (1 Cor. ii. 8). They had no pity, and He could truly say, "I looked for some to take pity, but there was none, and for comforters, but I found none" (Isa. liii. 20, 21).

Let us consider Him in the hands of the soldiers, and through it all let our hearts keep saying, "For me, all for me, that I, redeemed by His great sacrifice, might learn how to be content to be killed at the day long."

See the whole band gathered about Him, clothing Him with purple, crowning Him with thorns, putting a reed in His right hand, mockingly saluting Him as king of the Jews, smiting Him and spitting upon Him.

Then they took off the purple and put His own clothing on Him and led Him out to crucify Him, and He, bearing His cross, went forth (verse 20; John xix. 17). Imagine, if you can, what it meant to have clothing roughly put on and removed from a scourged back and to have a heavy cross laid upon it. Did you ever take a piece of cloth from a wound unhealed? Then think of Him.

The story of Simon the Cyrenian employed to bear the cross—His cross—seems to indicate that Jesus either stumbled because of weakness or slumped under His heavy load and sufferings. Simon was coming out of the country into the city, but had to turn back and bear a little for Christ's sake. When we are turned about in our plans or compelled by adverse people or circumstances to do differently from what we had intended it will help us to remember Simon and say, "Amen, O Lord."

It is recorded in Luke xxiii. 27-32, that a great company of people and of women followed Him, bewailing and lamenting Him, and that the soldiers, "Daughters of Jerusalem, weep not for me, but weep for yourselves and for your children." He told them of the terrible things ahead of them, which days and days in due time came upon their city. Even more terrible things such as never have been or ever will be again are awaiting this world, but few believe it. Mark xvi. 21; Zeph. i. 14-18; Rev. ix. xiii. 9-18.

Lucas also tells us in the same passage that there were two malefactors led with Him to be put to death. Thus He was numbered with transgressors (Isa. liii. 12), and we must be content to be so numbered for His sake.

If we will let Him live His life in us we must be content to suffer with Him and to be misunderstood, misjudged, misunderstood, falsely accused and in every way ill-treated for all who will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution (1 Tim. iii. 12).

They came to the place of execution, the place of a skull, called in Matthew, Mark and John "Golgotha" and in Luke "Calvary," and there they crucified Him, on either side one of the malefactors and Jesus in the midst. Never did so few words have such awful significance. The Son of God, the Holy One of Israel, treated as the vilest criminal, but it was for us He suffered, for each one says "for me," and consider, if you can, the cost of your redemption.

It was all for naught, the pained hands and feet, the parted garments, the casting of lots and all else (Ps. xlii. 10; Isa. liii. 12) and elsewhere, "Thou hast forsaken it all, that did not mitigate the guilt of cruel hands (Luke ix. 23; 14. 27, 28). He was crucified at the third hour, or 9 a. m. (verse 23). The passing called on Him, the chief priests and scribes mocked Him, the soldiers also mocked Him and offered Him vinegar, and they that were crucified with Him reviled Him (verses 25-27; Luke xxiii. 25-28). One of the two thieves repented and went to paradise with Him that day (Luke xxiii. 40-42).

With hands and feet nailed to the cross, without baptism or any good works, he believed, confessed Christ, and went to glory. There was darkness from the sixth hour to the ninth hour, and at that hour He died.

Then was the veil of the temple rent in twain from the top to the bottom, the earth did quake, and the rocks were rent, graves were opened, and after His resurrection many bodies of the saints arose and appeared to many in the holy city (verses 37, 38; Matt. xxv. 31-33). These probably went with Him to glory.

Fail not to notice with much prayer His seven sayings from the cross recorded in Matt. xxv. 46; Mark x. 31; Luke xix. 31, 40, 46; John xix. 28-30. These words do not give them in the order of utterance. The first is forgiveness, the second is glory, and the third covers all that we need while here on earth. Each of the other sayings has a message for our hearts.

are missing much in these delightful morning services. Now I am asking that you get a series case of the church habit, and in these days of protracted effort use your simple best faith for the conversion of souls. Are you aware of the fact that some who boasted loud and long are about to pass away, and you shall lack, will you, in your stability, when you are asked, "What have you done for the Lord?"

Princess Paul Troubetzkoy and her Favorite Siberian Sled Dog Ready for a Walk

Get a Dog, Walk For Health and Become a Dancer, says Princess Troubetzkoy

New York, Nov. 28.—The latest beauty advice to New York society comes from the Princess Paul Troubetzkoy of Russia, the sculptor. She says New York society women do not walk enough and when they do walk they pace too slowly. "Get a dog," she says, "and make it take you on a lunge in the park. Dogs must walk, it is nature with them." Every morning the Princess takes a walk in the park with her two large Siberian sled hounds, who tug her along at a rapid gait. The Princess is a Russian and a sister-in-law to Amelia Rives (Clemens Troubetzkoy, wife of Prince Pierre Troubetzkoy.

Ban Placed On David Harums, No Horse Trading Advocated

The mayor has hit upon a plan which he believes may remove the danger of "hoof and mouth" disease breaking out in Portsmouth and that is by placing the ban on horse trading for the present at least.

The mayor has issued the following order:

To The Chief of Police:

Pursuant to the great number of worthless horses and mules being driven or lead over the country for the mere purpose of trading; and realizing that the unhealthy condition of all such animals when in the custody of shiftless people are a menace to all others of their species and contrary to public policies:

You are, therefore, advised to instruct your patrolmen to prevent all such afflicted animals from being brought into this city where they may drink the water from public fountains and so contaminates the water and the air to such extent that disease may follow in their wake.

All such animals should be quarantined and if the state would so provide, then immediate well meaning citizens who provide well for their live stock would not need to suspect themselves to the hazard of losing their standard bred animals, or the people made to suffer by result of a reduced supply of hogs and cattle which largely enter into the cost of living.

The necessity for such enforcement arises owing to public welfare, a vigilant application of this order will, therefore, result in great good.

ADAM PRICK,
 Mayor.
 Portsmouth, Ohio, November 27, 1914.

To Elect Officers

Election of officers for the coming year will be held at the meeting of the Modern Woodmen of America next Friday evening, to be followed by a social session.
 Only routine business was transacted at the meeting Friday evening.

ASSOCIATED PRESS TRAPS RIVAL AGENCIES THAT STOLE ITS NEWS

That Europe is not the only place where the war is being fought out is shown by the following dispatch from New York, concerning the rivalry between news agencies:

New York, Nov. 28.—H. L.
 Linder, a telegraph operator in the employ of the Postal Telegraph company, and attached to the office of the New York Globe was arrested here yesterday charged with violating section 552 of the penal law, in that he revealed the contents of a telegraphic message sent out by The Associated Press.

For a long time it has been evident that dispatches of The Associated Press were being systematically stolen and were redistributed by a number of smaller agencies to their clients. A careful watch was set up on the business and suspicion pointed to a certain man employed in the office of the Globe, a New York evening paper, as the guilty person. The case was considered by the executives of The Associated Press directors at a recent meeting and a plan to detect the culprits and bring them to justice was adopted.

 For the purpose of transmitting the more important news or bulletins, wires connect the central office of the organization at 51 Chambers St., with the editorial rooms of the various members in New York.
 In the office of the Globe these bulletins were copied surreptitiously by H. L. Linder a telegraph operator, employed by the Postal Telegraph company and repeated to the New York News bureau, a Wall street concern.

Frequently within two or three minutes after their receipt in the office of the Globe
 they appeared on the News Bureau's ticker and in the reports of the International News Service, the Central News of America, and other minor organizations.

For the purpose of trapping the wire tappers, the foreign dispatch was prepared "Bulletin, E. O. S."

"Petrograd, November 27.
 —The Russian dreadnaught Fliba, formerly the Ismail, striking a mine in the Gulf of Finland, is a complete loss with 450 lives.

The Ismail was one of four Baltic dreadnaughts laid down at the Kronstadt yards in 1912. She had a displacement of 28,000 tons, and carried nine 14-inch guns and twenty 5-inch."

The short bulletin wire to the Globe office was detached from the circuit which included the other New York evening newspaper members of the Associated Press so that the message should go to the Globe alone. As anticipated, the dispatch instantly appeared upon the ticker and not long after was printed in the papers served by other news agencies in different parts of the country. As soon as this was done and before it appeared in any issue of the Globe, a notice to "kill" was sent out and the telegram therefore at no time, reached the public as from the Associated Press.

"The word 'Fliba' was cryptic. Substituting for the initial consonant, the consonant following it in the alphabet, and for the two vowels, the vowels following in the alphabet 'Fliba' became 'Globo.' Thus the outputs were left no chance for escape. The telegram was identical beyond question and its source made plain. The telegraph operator was arrested and made a full confession. He was arraigned yesterday afternoon before Magistrate F. B. House and held in $5,000 bail for a hearing on December 1st.

In order to observe the methods of the New York News Bureau, a trusted Pinkerton operator was employed and established himself

 as an investment banker,
 "Mr. R. D. Smith" at No.
 308 Broadway. He fitted his office carefully with a safe and appropriate furniture and installed one of the New York News bureau tickers.
 Employees of the Associated Press, were assigned to watch the ticker with great care and to time each dispatch. During a period covering several weeks, it was observed that the dispatches of the Associated Press were constantly repeated upon the ticker within five or ten minutes after they were sent out by the Associated Press. The New York News bureau is not a member of the Associated Press and is not entitled to its service.

J. G. HARRISS IS ARRESTED ON OLD FORGERY CHARGE, E. F. RIDEOUT A VICTIM

J. G. Harriess, a former N. & W. brakeman, was arrested at the R. Y. M. C. A. building Saturday morning on a charge of forgery.

Harriess' alleged offense was committed a year ago and though he has been in and out of Portsmouth several times since was never apprehended.

He is charged with alleged passing a $32 check to which the name of E. F. Rideout, superintendent of the Y. M. C. A., had been forged. Mr. Rideout paid the check and $1.64 protest charges at the time. Another $27 check drawn by one Charles Solomon on the Iron City bank of Ironton and which was endorsed by someone signing himself as J.
 G. Harriess but which was held at the First National bank will be used as evidence against the young man.

Harriess, who says his home is in Washington, D. C., denies having forged any checks but has arranged to make good the Rideout check because he endorsed it for one J. R. Taylor, on Darlington, Va., a former B. & O. S. W. employee and son of a C. & O. engineer. The name of C. A. Bell was also used by the check writer and the $27 check was supposedly for the payment of a doctor bill.

The signature of Mr. Rideout whose name appears on the checks was cleverly imitated. Mr.

 Rideout himself believes that the signature was copied from the printed one which is stamped on Y. M. C. A. coupon books. He brought about Harriess' arrest shortly after the latter came to the Y. M. C. A. Saturday morning by getting in touch with Judge A.
 Z. Blair who in turn notified police headquarters.

The mayor had Harriess to write his signature on a slip of paper and it tallied almost exactly with that on the Rideout check having a peculiar curve on the last letter
 "S." He said he wrote his name with one "S" because Taylor had asked him to do so.

A brotherhood card found on Harriess showed he had been employed as a yard switchman on the Pennsylvania lines at Freedom and Rochester, Pa.

Who Lost A Pocketbook?

"Button" Scott has in his possession a lost pocket-book which the rightful owner may recover by calling at the First National bank building and identifying the property.

Dinner Party

Miss Marian Parker was the hostess of a dinner party Friday evening Nov. 27, at her home on Walter street, given in honor of the 43rd birthday anniversary of her father, G. Franklin Parker. Those seated at the well-prepared dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gooden, Mrs. Mattie Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Payne, Mr. Wm. Harnett, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Parker, Mrs. Adria Jones presided at the piano throughout the evening.
 Miss Parker was assisted by Miss Naomi Robinson.

Polishing Wood.

To restore and polish chiseled wood, rub all spots the way of the grain with finely pulverized pumice stone and oil and then polish with a soft dry cloth.
 Carefully done, this will make chiseled furniture look like new.

WOMAN ASKS DAMAGES

Damages in the amount of $1000 are sought by Miss Lily Cummings, of 613 Fourth street, from the Portsmouth Street Railway and Light company, for personal injuries alleged to have been sustained in an accident near Sixth and Chillicothe streets on the evening of November 5. The petition has been filed in common pleas court by her attorney, P. T.
 Moreland.

Miss Cunningham claims that she was a passenger on a west bound main line car, and that she gave the conductor a signal to stop at Sixth and Chillicothe streets. She further alleges that the car was started before she had an opportunity to get off, the sudden start throwing her against a seat, and severely bruising her internally. She asserts that she has been unable to perform any work since the accident.

Offers $10 Reward

The county commissioners, in session Saturday, unanimously passed a resolution, providing for a reward of $10 to any one furnishing evidence that will result in the conviction of those guilty of destroying county property or throwing particles of glass or any other obstruction on the turn-pikes in the county.

So much complaint has been received of late relative to throwing glass, tacks and other articles on the road, that the board was prompted to endeavor to put a stop to it.

Robber Got Tip

Police Chief Kountz of Ashland, Ky., spent Friday night in Portsmouth searching for a man wanted there for robbery. His presence in the city is said to have been tipped off to the fellow and he succeeded in making a get-away.

ANOTHER HUNTER SHOT YESTERDAY

Charles Allison, a farmer youth, accidentally shot himself in the left foot while rabbit hunting on the Johnson farm west of Lucasville Friday afternoon. The young man was brought to the city by Dr. Hilling, of Lucasville, and taken to Dr. O. W. Robe's office where it was found necessary to amputate his second toe. He became faint several times on the way to the city. The physician also removed him back to his home. Allison said he hardly knew how the accident happened.

Wins Fine Honor

Signal honor has been won by Howard Feyler, son of Mrs. Dussie Feyler, of Second street, who was recently chosen a member of the "Glee Club" of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., where he is attending school. He was chosen along with ten others from a class of 135 who competed. Not a little pleasure is attended with membership in the chorus, as it will be taken on different tours through the larger cities of the South, during the winter, traveling in its own special car.

FORCED THIEF TO RETURN BIKE

Robert Wood reported to the police that his bicycle had been stolen by a tall man Friday evening. Stepping outside of headquarters he met a friend who told of the man riding straight down Second street. Robert started in pursuit and overtook the thief at the bridge, forcing him to give up the bike. The police complimented the boy for his pluck.

Has Lost Eye Sight

Joe Dill, the well known colored saloonkeeper, who was removed to Hempstead hospital when a fire forced him to vacate his home on Tenth street, has developed tubercular meningitis. Joe's eye sight has failed him and he is not partaking of any nourishment though he was reported feeling somewhat improved Friday night.

SIX ALL STEEL DINING CARS ORDERED BY N. & W.

It was announced Saturday that the N. & W. had placed an order with the American Car Foundry Company of St. Charles, Mo., for six all steel dining cars of the very latest pattern. They are to be placed in the Columbus and Cincinnati service of the N. & W. and will be attached to all through trains, Nos. 3, 4, 15 and 16.

The first car was delivered Friday and the other five will arrive ten days apart. The shipment to be completed by February. The cars are finished in mahogany.

TRY THIS FOR YOUR COUGH

Thousands of people keep coughing because unable to get the right remedy. Coughs are caused by inflammation of Throat and Bronchial Tubes. What you need is to soothe this inflammation. Take Dr. King's New Discovery; it penetrates the delicate mucous lining, raises the phlegm and quickly relieves the congested membranes. Get a 50c bottle from your druggist. "Dr. King's New Discovery quickly and completely stopped my cough," writes J. B. Watts, Floydale, Texas. Money back if not satisfied, but it nearly always helps.

Changed the Date

Mother's Friend Before Baby Arrives

During several weeks of expectancy there is a splendid external embroachment in our "Mother's Friend" in which thousands of women have the most unbounded confidence. They have used it and know. They tell of its wonderful influence to ease the abdominal muscles and how they avoided those dreaded stretching pains that are so much talked about. This safe external application is gently used over the skin to render it amenable to the natural stretching which it undergoes. The myriad of nerve threads just beneath the skin is thus relieved of unnecessary pain-producing causes and great physical relief is the result as expressed by a host of happy mothers who write from personal experience.

It is a subject that all women should be familiar with as "Mother's Friend" has been in use many years, has been given the most severe tests under most all trying conditions and is recommended by women who to-day are grandmothers and who in their earlier years learned to rely upon this splendid aid to women. "Mother's Friend" is declared by a multitude of women to be just what expectant motherhood requires. You can obtain "Mother's Friend" at almost any drug store. Get a bottle today and then write for our little book, "Address: Bradford's Regulator Co., 412 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga."

EDITOR MEYERS A BENEDICT

Hoping to keep their friends in ignorance of the happy event, Miss Bertha Taylor and Will I. Meyers, managing editor of the Republican, slipped away to Jackson, Ohio, last Saturday, Nov. 21, and were married by the Rev. Lewis of the Presbyterian church says the Greenup Republican.

The first announcement that their friends and relatives in Greenup received was at a charming dish party given by Mrs. E. R. Womack Tuesday evening to Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Curry, Miss Lona Taylor, Messrs. J. D. Kinner and W. P. McCoy and the host, Mr. E. R. Womack. It was the intentions of the bride and groom to keep the marriage a secret until Christmas and announce it then, but occasions of this kind, as they usually do, leaked out on them, hence the early announcement.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyers will go to housekeeping in the Clifton property on Main street.

Victims Are Recovering

Mrs. Oliver Collins and daughter June, who were badly hurt when thrown from a farm wagon at Pop Corn Point Friday afternoon are reported improving at their home on Dry Run.

John Wright took the daughter home in a buggy while Mrs. Collins was assisted home by Mr. and Mrs. Mullet.

Sparks Here

Asa Sparks, a prosperous farmer of Poplar Flat, Lewis county, Ky., is visiting his brother, John Sparks, of Clay street, and his brother-in-law, Olie Applegate of Eighth street. Mr. Sparks has just sold his farm and may come to Portsmouth to engage in some kind of business.

HAVE HILL

A. J. Hilling has been quite sick with cold and is some better. Mr. Sam Crickenger spent yesterday at the home of his mother in Vinton. Our schools entertained the parents with Thanksgiving exercises Wednesday morning. The ladies of the Ohio Baptist church gave a Thanksgiving dinner which was well patronized. Quite a crowd came down from Ironton. There was a two weeks' revival begun at the Ohio Baptist church Monday evening last, which is being well attended. Mrs. Sam Crickenger entertained the following ladies at her beautiful home Saturday of last week with an old fashioned quilt and a sumptuous dinner: Mrs. James Sina, Aunt, Charles Ault, Hattie Massie, Rea Walker, Frank Oakes, Oscar Oakes, Hannah Oakes, M. E. Oakes, Yungling, Walter Dempsey, Asa Fletcher M. Rankin, of Portsmouth, spent Sunday with his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Josier, of the Yingling farm.

OVER 50 YEARS OF CO-OPERATIVE EXPERIENCE

THE First National Bank of Portsmouth, O., for over 50 years has been seeking to build up a spirit of co-operation among all classes in the community and as a Member of the Federal Reserve System its efforts will be greatly enlarged.

THE NEW FREEDOM

We use this phrase without political significance. For years The First NATIONAL bank has believed in co-operation. It has sought to bring all classes of the community closer together in business bonds. It has tried earnestly to teach that none of us 'live for' ourselves alone. There is no place for the selfish hermit in our social midst, whether that hermit be a millionaire or a laborer. We believe that closer and closer the bond of humanity is being drawn together here. To use a homely old illustration the wheels without the wagon are not of much more use than the wagon without the wheels and we have sought to bring the two together. Co-operation to our way of thinking means the new freedom—the new freedom for every one of us.

CO-OPERATION UNDER THE NEW ACT.

And if we do not mistake its purpose that spirit is written in the new Federal Reserve Act. Between all the NATIONAL Banks, Members of our Federal Reserve Bank, there will be co-operation. Between our Federal Reserve Bank and all the other Federal Reserve Banks in the United States there will be greater co-operation. And this co-operation is designed to reach down and help not only every NATIONAL Bank but every depositor—every customer of NATIONAL Banks. At least this is the spirit of the Act as The First NATIONAL Bank understands it and it is in this spirit of co-operation that under the new Federal Reserve Act it will seek to be a greater power for good in our community. What will the new Federal Reserve Act do? It will enable the Federal Reserve Banks to co-operate in helping Member Banks to be more useful members of their communities and The First NATIONAL Bank CONSTRUCTS IT TO MEAN THAT IT WILL HELP US TO BE MORE HELPFUL TO OUR CUSTOMERS.

IS IT NECESSARY?

We hardly think it is necessary to remind you that the big bank building at the Corner of Gallia and Chillicothe Streets is the home of the First NATIONAL Bank, which houses a living, helpful institution—one that appeals to all classes of the community.

ONE OF OUR OBJECTS

One of our objects—one of our main objects for being—is to co-operate with our people in their earnest endeavor to be more successful. Many a man—many a woman—yes, many a child—has struggled along, unsuccessful, uncared for, untaught the great lessons of thrift and saving, until The First NATIONAL Bank stretched forth its helping hand—until we invited them to come here to us—until we showed them that no matter how poor they were to-day, by bringing their hard earned dollars here and keeping them in a First NATIONAL Savings Account there were bigger, better, richer things before them. And we have had our reward. 7,000 SUCCESSFUL PEOPLE TODAY BANK AT THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF PORTSMOUTH.

WHAT IT MEANS TO ALL OF US

Think of what these figures mean to all of us, 7,000 successful people in our community! 7,000 people made up of farmers and farmers wives—yes, and farm laborers, too—working men and working women—boys and girls—housewives and merchants and manufacturers—these are some of the classes that form this great Army of Peace. And as you read this, friend—for so we can call you, we know—we want YOU to make a firm resolution—a determined effort to join our great and growing Army of successful men and women and enable us to co-operate in making you successful—in making you independent—in making you contented. You are not too poor a man or woman to come to us. You are not too rich a man or woman to come to us. Instead, no matter who you may be, you cannot afford to do without us. $1.00—that's all you need to start. Thousands whose bank accounts here to-day run into the hundreds, yes, and into the thousands, began with us with $1.00 AND IT IS JUST AS POSSIBLE FOR YOU TO CREATE BY OUR HELP A BIG BANK ACCOUNT FROM A SMALL BEGINNING AS IT WAS FOR THE OTHER THOUSANDS WHO HAVE ALREADY DONE IT.

NOR IS IT NECESSARY

Neither do we think it necessary to remind you that our hours are from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. On Saturdays from 9 A. M. to 12 Noon. On Tuesday evenings from 6 to 9. Between any of these hours you can call here and begin your business relations with us.
